STEEL PRICES ARE HEAVILY SLASHED

GOVERNMENT COMES TO UNDERSTANDING WITH STEELMAKERS

Cost of Materials Is Brought Down to Less Than Half Former Level in Some Cases.

NEW PRICES ARE SUBJECT TO REVISION

Washington, Sept. 24.—Uniform steel prices for the American government, the public and the allies, which represent reductions of from 40 to 70 per cent in present market quotations, were approved today by President Wilson.

The prices were determined in an agreement reached between steel producers and the war industries board after conferences lasting more than a month.

They were based on cost of production figures furnished by the federal trade commission which made an investigation at the president's direction. Under powers conferred in the priority of transportation act the war industries board will supervise distribution of steel in a manner best calculated to win the war. The agreement reached stipulates that there shall be no wage reductions in the steel industry and that producers shall exert themselves to maintain capacity production. The prices will become effective immediately and are subject to revision January 1, 1918.

Steel bars at Pittsburgh and Chicago, $2.50 per hundredweight. The recent price was $5.50.

Other prices agreed upon, all subject to revision January 1, 1918, but to become effective immediately, follow:

Iron ore, basis lower lake ports, price agreed upon, $5.05 gross ton. No change.

Coke, Connellsville—Price agreed upon six dollars net ton; recent price sixteen dollars a ton; a reduction of 62.50 per cent.

Steel plates: Basis Chicago and Pittsburgh—Price agreed upon $3.25 hundred weight, recent price $11 hundred weight.

YOUTH IN THRILLING ESCAPE FROM FARM

Local officers have been notified of the thrilling escape which Carl Haines, 19, formerly a member of the signal corps company, made from the state farm, several days ago. Haines was sentenced to the penal farm from police court after he had been convicted of stealing a suit case from a signal corps member and several boxes of cigars from a wholesale house.

Haines let himself from an upper window in the main house at the penal farm by using several sheets tied together. He plunged into the woods near the farm. The hunt, which has been waged since that time, has proven unsuccessful.

MUST HELP GERMAN PEOPLE TO OBTAIN CONTROL OF POWER

London, Sept. 24.—The Manchester Guardian considers that the German reply is not strictly an answer to the pope's appeal for peace. The Guardian says:

"We are sorry to say it, but we find a good deal of moral and political cowardice in the note. There was only one way by which Germany could convince the world of the sincerity of her return to the humanities and that was by explaining why she deserted them and what she meant to do. But she would have been the brave thing to do. Germany hasn't done it."

Petrograd, Sunday, Sept. 23.—Raymond Robins, head of the permanent Red Cross commission in Petrograd, and Catherine Breshkovskaya, known as the "Grandmother of the Revolution," spoke from the same platform this afternoon at the Teneisheff auditorium, both assuring their audience that Americans, Englishmen and Russians had mutual faith in the ultimate outcome of Russian democracy. Mr. Robins drew a parallel between Russia's troubles today and early American history. He said the outbreaks here were nothing new in history and urged foreign business interests to deal with new Russia on lines of economic freedom.

Madam Breshkovskaya, who spoke in English was cheered when she expressed faith that her people, as the result of education, would form a true democracy after vanquishing Germany, the common foe.

David R. Francis, the American ambassador, and other members of the diplomatic corps in Petrograd, were present.

THREE BILLIONS TO BE THE NEXT ISSUE

Tenure Will Probably Be for Thirty Years at 4 Per Cent.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Details of the second liberty bond issue probably will be announced by Secretary McAdoo tomorrow. The term of the bonds, their denomination, the interest rate and the amount of the offering constitute the chief details which have not as yet been announced.

Indications are that the offering will approximate $3,000,000,000, that a bond will run approximately 25 to 30 years.

The interest rate, as fixed by law, may be up to 4 per cent. and it is considered likely that the issue will bear the 4 per cent. rate.

Treasury officials, carrying out the government's policy governing the conservation of gold, have virtually decided upon a policy prohibiting the export of gold to Spain. No gold has been loaned for export to Spain since the president's proclamation became effective, except several shipments already loaded aboard steamers.

FRENCH IS MOST POPULAR SUBJECT

Many Want to Learn the Language at Indiana University Branch.

The study of French and public speaking proved to be the most popular courses being offered by Indiana university extension division in this city, as indicated by enrollment figures already compiled. So far more than one hundred persons in Allen county have signed up for college work under the direction of the state university, which will have members of its teaching faculty here regularly to offer instruction.

Public speaking, it is explained, has always been a popular course among students at the university carrying on their studies and it is taken that the same motives actuate those enrolling here at other places.

The journalism and advertising courses are being highly recommended by those in charge of the "little university," and the fact is pointed out that newspapers everywhere are demanding the services of trained men and women.

AMERICAN AIR WARRIOR DOES FRESH STUNTS

Somewhere on the French front, Saturday, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lieut. Raoul Lufberry, of Wallingford, Conn., one of the most prominent members of the Lafayette flying corps, continued his brilliant air exploits today when he destroyed one German machine and forced another to land near the front lines. Sergeant Kenneth Marr, of San Francisco, was attacked by four German machines and forced to land when the wires controlling the elevating planes of his airplane were cut by bullets.

The members of the Lafayette squadron witnessed a fight over their own field this morning when a French flyer of another squadron forced down a German machine which crashed to earth about a mile away.

GOV. GOODRICH IS HOLDING HIS OWN IN BATTLE

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 24.—Although the doctors attending Governor Goodrich at a local hospital admitted his condition over Sunday was worse than it has been for several days they announced in a bulletin this morning that he showed slight improvement over last night. The bulletin follows:

"The governor passed a restful night and we feel that his condition at present is a slight improvement over his condition yesterday. The increased aggravation of his bronchitis is not at this time worse than it was three days ago. We feel that his condition is satisfactory under the present circumstances."

The governor's condition was unchanged this afternoon according to the announcement of the attending physicians. Little change was looked for during the rest of the day.

Here in Interest of Trail

C. J. Munton, of Kendallville, was elected president of the Ohio, Indiana and Michigan Way at its organization meeting at the Commercial club Monday noon. James A. Hendricks, of Decatur, was selected vice president, and Charles Biederwolf, of Fort Wayne, was chosen secretary-treasurer. The election of officers followed an enthusiastic meeting in which plans were made for the marking of the trail, and later on the development and improvement of the new way. A. E. Nisson, of Chicago, delivered the principal address in which he urged that the road be speedily carried out. He said that the Cincinnati-Fort Wayne-Kalamazoo road might well receive a share of the four million dollars to be spent on state roads within the next five years and that the most necessary thing to do is to see that the road is recognized as soon as possible.

The point of most interest which arose in the meeting was the contest for the route between Wolcottville and South Milford. Both towns want on the route of the O. I. M. way. The matter, it was decided, will be left to the State Highway commission.

Those in Attendance.

Among those in attendance at the dinner at the Commercial club Monday in the interest of the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan way were A. E. Nisson, of Chicago; George W. Choler, of Lagrange; Carl Willard, of Lagrange; A. L. Randall, of this city; James A. Hendricks, of Monroe; A. L. Longshore, Monroe; C. A. Bathrick, Battle Creek, Mich.; C. J. Real Suffragists Take Oc-

Washington, Sept. 24.—"Shall a special house committee on women suffrage be appointed?"

This question was put today for determination in the form of a report presented by the rules committee recommending the creation of such a committee with prospect of favorable action. The senate has a similar committee.

Support of the committee's recommendation is urged in a letter received today by house members from Mrs. Maud Wood Park, congressional chairman of the National Woman Suffrage association.

"We believe that fair-minded men whatever their views on the general question of woman suffrage," wrote Mrs. Park, "will agree that a principle of such denial of national importance should be considered by a committee which has time for a thorough investigation of the subject. We consider it a matter of justice that the women of this nation who are one-half its people and share the country's burdens equally with the men, should be given this means of presenting their cause to congress. We know, also, that the nine million women voters of this country in nineteen of our states expect this recognition of women's political interests."

The letter concludes with the statement that the association of which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt is president "has no connection with the small group of women, in a different organization, who have adopted the tactics of 'picketing the white house' and adds that the association has repeatedly declared its disapproval of such tactics.

Summary of the Day's War News

Heavy cannonading was again in progress last night on the Flanders battlefield northeast of Ypres, but the infantry had no part in the recent hard fighting. The last German reaction was not encouraging enough, apparently, to warrant a speedy repetition as Field Marshal Haig in his dispatches last night reported that when the Germans assaulted the British lines northeast of Langemarck yesterday they not only were repulsed but lost ground in a British counter drive.

Signs of possibly important activity impending are appearing in other sections of the British front, notably in the Arras region near the Scarpe, and in the vicinity of Lens, which city is still being closely pressed by the Canadians. Considerable artillery activity is announced from these sectors.

The artillery on both sides is notably busy on the French front in the Verdun region. Last night's activity reached the stage of intense violence north of the fortresses in Fosse and Chimes wood region, Paris reports.

Although suffering a heavy reverse in the recent German operations in the Jacobstadt region, the Russians on the Riga-Dvinsk front are showing recuperative power and today a sub-

CHANGES SEATS IN AIRPLANE IN A DIZZY FLIGHT

Rantoul, Ill., Sept. 24.—Officers at the army aviation school here declared today that the feat of Maj. Maxwell Kirby, who changed seats in an airplane at an elevation of more than 1,000 feet, was the first of its kind ever accomplished in the United States. Major Kirby arrived Saturday from Dayton, O., where he was in charge of an aviation school. He made his initial flight here yesterday, ascending alone in the rear seat and using a stick control. When the airplane was a quarter of a mile in the air and running at the speed of a mile a minute the (Continued on Page 14, Column 2.)

STATE DEPARTMENT STILL HAS IN HAND MUCH WARM STUFF

Disclosures as Sensational as Any Yet Made of Prussian Diplomacy's Intrigues Are in Reserve.

HAS LIST OF THOSE TAKING KAISER CASH

Washington, Sept. 24.—While there is no indication of what will be the state department's next disclosure of German intrigue in America or elsewhere, it is known that disclosures as sensational as any yet published are being held in reserve and may be made at any time.

One of the things the state department has is a list of persons who received German money in the passport frauds, the munitions plots and practically all the other activities of German intrigue here which took place between the beginning of the war in August, 1914, and the entry of the United States into the conflict.

This list is said to contain scores of names and the amounts of money represented run very high.

From time to time the department also probably will make public certain evidence to dispose of the denials of those who have been involved in the disclosures already made.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO SLAYING WIDOW

Gaston Means Arraigned in Preliminary for the Death of Mrs. King.

Concord, N. C., Sept. 24.—Gaston R. Means, business agent and confidant of Mrs. Maude A. King, the wealthy widow, whose death has resulted in a charge of murder being brought against him, pleaded not guilty at a preliminary hearing begun here today.

Means, backed by an array of counsel, exercised his legal privilege of declining to be examined before Magistrate Palmer, and the hearing was conducted by Magistrate Pitts.

Attorneys representing the state of New York and Cook county, Ill., were present.

Dr. William Burmeister, chief coroner's physician, of Chicago, testified that in his opinion it would have been impossible for Mrs. King to have held the pistol which inflicted her death wound in the woods near here on August 20. Means, at the coroner's inquest, testified that Mrs. King accidentally shot herself and that he was several yards away. Dr. Burmeister testified that there were no powder marks around the wound to support the theory that Mrs. King's own hand held the revolver.

Lawyers and criminal experts from three states are present in the hearing, the object of which is to bind Means over to await the action of a grand jury.

KNITTING MILLS MAN BUYS IN SOUTH WOOD PARK.

Earl H. Siebold, of 740 Walnut street, stock clerk at the Wayne Knitting mills, has purchased one of the handsome lots in South Wood Park fronting on Indiana avenue in the wooded section. This is one of the more southerly home sites of Section B, which continues to appeal to all who desire beautifully situated property with all modern improvements.

ATTENTION IS NOW DRAWN TO NEW WOODED SECTION.

With the progress of the work of the engineers in the western wooded portion of South Wood Park, known as Section C, attention is now drawn to this beautiful part of the new Ellegman-Schaaf subdivision. This is the portion of South Wood Park lying to the west of Idlewood Road, the automobile drive which extends southwest past the estates of S. B. Bechtel and A. Z. Polhamus.

ANOTHER ELECTRIC WORKS MAN SELECTS SOUTH SIDE SITE.

Herbert G. Siebold, machinist at the Fort Wayne works of the General Electric company, has selected one of the South Wood Park lots at the point of junction of Drury Lane and Pembroke Lane, facing directly southwest into Westover Road, the thoroughfare which connects Sections B. and C.

BOWSER FIRE FIGHTERS GIVE $34 TO RED CROSS

Women Will Use Waste to Make Clothing for Children.

The work on the promised comfort pillows continues to progress with a rapidity very pleasing to those in charge at the Red Cross. Snipping parties have been conducted in a number of different homes and the work has been turned over to the ladies. Many who have not been able to come to the headquarters have done their bit by donating certain sums of money each week to aid in the cause. Others have donated flowers and the money received from their sale is used to buy material to be used in the comfort pillows. The Bowser Volunteer Fire department made a large donation of $34.49 to be used for new material. The Red Cross intends to use much of their time and waste material in the future in making garments for refugee children in France. The pieces left from the construction of larger garments are to be used in this work. Sunday a number of local women spoke in the interests of the Red Cross at twelve different churches, and next Sunday they plan to speak at eight others. Those who spoke Sunday were Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Allen Hamilton, Mrs. Clarence Schuch, Mrs. Mary Edson, Mrs. Flagie, Mrs. Frank Bond, Mrs. H. O. Braggman, Mrs. William Croighton, Misses Hallie Johns, LeVon Sperry, Margaret Smith and Mrs. Robt. of Indiana.

WEDNESDAY SECOND BIG SUBURBAN TRADE DAY

One Hundred Firms Now Prepare to Extend Welcome to Visitors.

Elsewhere in today's Sentinel appears the complete revised list of members of the Fort Wayne Suburban Day Trade association, which is preparing to extend the "glad hand" to visitors from the nearby cities and towns, as well as the farming district, this week Wednesday, the second of the big trade days. Out-of-town people will watch with interest each week the Fort Wayne newspapers for the announcements of "Suburban Day Specials," which are now becoming the talk of the entire surrounding territory.

As on the first Suburban day, the city market place, Barr street, between Berry and Washington, is placed at the free disposal of visitors for the parking of their automobiles. This privilege is possible only on Suburban day—every Wednesday. As the need grows, larger areas for parking will be provided.
All of the motor bus lines operating in and out of Fort Wayne are now carrying large placards reading: "Every Wednesday is Suburban Trade Day in Fort Wayne. Watch the newspapers for Suburban Day Specials." The campaign of publicity will now carry the details of the Fort Wayne plan into scores of outside cities and towns.
Fort Wayne people benefit personally from the Suburban day plans through the arrangement that every one—either from outside or a resident—is privileged to take advantage of the specials offered on Wednesdays.
It is again pointed out to visitors that "Fort Wayne time is one hour 'faster' than standard time, and that the stores close at 6 o'clock Fort Wayne time, for the present, which is 5 o'clock, standard time. Therefore, "Watch your time!"

WHO WILL WIN THE SERIES?

New York, Sept. 24.—With the baseball season reaching the stage where it is only a case of "playing out the schedule" the talk has now turned to the question, "who will win the world's series?"

Although the New York fans are disappointed because Chicago won the toss for the games and will stage contests on a Saturday, a Sunday and a holiday, a closer perusal of the records shows that it is a lucky omen as far as the Giants are concerned.

The Giants have figured in four world's series previous to the one they will combat in this year. Three times they have been beaten. The only one in which McGraw led his men to the stellar honors in the baseball world was in 1905, when the Giants played the first game of the series away from home—in Philadelphia against the Athletics. In 1911 they again met the Athletics. The first game was played on the Polo grounds. The Giants lost the series. The next year they played the Red Sox. The Giants won the toss. Again the first game was played in New York. Again the Giants lost. In 1913 it was the same. The Giants met the Athletics. The first game came off in New York. Connie Mack won.

Local fans are pointing to the fact that McGraw's men have always played a great game away from home—in fact, much better game than they do on their own ballfield. But the local fans seem to forget that the White Sox are also a good road team. And the White Sox will have an advantage that the Giants will not have. They have been playing on the Polo grounds every year since the Yankees took to playing their home games on that field. They have played eleven games annually with the Yankees. The grounds will not be strange to them. On the other hand, McGraw's men will go into the world's conflict playing on a field they have never played on before. Whatever advantage may accrue from this instance will help the White Sox.

The teams in this big conflict will be led by men with two different temperaments. McGraw, noted for his driving power, is a past master in the art of getting every ounce out of a player. Like a jockey, he spurs them on with whip and spur. Sarcasm, he eggs on his players and goads them to do almost the impossible. He will stand for no shirking. A player must make good or McGraw will relegate him to the bench or to a minor league outfit. He is a powerful leader, has brought five pennants to New York and competed in four world's series. This will be his fifth.

Rowland is the other extreme. He handles his men with "kid gloves." None of the dynamic force of McGraw is visible in this leader, who has been called a "busher" by his critics. With gentle, even demeanor he urges his men on. Unlike McGraw, he does not call his men down when they make mistakes. He even smiles at them, pats them on the back and knows that they are trying their best. And in this handling of his men he is ably assisted by "Kid" Gleason. And the latter is of the old Baltimore school from which McGraw graduated.

The one bright ray of hope among the Giant rotters is that word from Maryland says Charlie Herzog, captain of the National league winners, will "be there" when the big series starts. Herzog, who was suspended for failing to report, has declared he will play, "doctors or no doctors." It was Herzog's "illness, due to a fall when the Ginals played in Philadelphia, that caused him to desert" the team and be disciplined.

Smock 2-1. Those defaulting were T. L. Staples to A. S. Bond; J. Morris to J. C. Hoffman, and W. L. Witt to F. S. Huntington.

KULTUR AND CULTURES.

The state department at Washington makes public that after America had exercised its good offices as a friendly neutral in taking over the German legation in Bucharest following the entrance of Rumania into the war last year Germany testified its appreciation by making the legation buildings storehouses for high explosives and germs of deadly diseases. This revelation was robbed of some degree of its shock by the repeated charges and accusations during previous months that the Prussians had been distributing the means of infections over Rumania. Stories that packages of candy poisoned with the germs of terrible diseases had been scattered over the land to fall into the hands of children and tales of other humane devices to spread Prussian kultur where it would do the most good in whatever ways might befall have been numerous enough and not altogether without authentication by evidence.

We can overlook the duplicity, the dishonesty, the treachery, the total want of moral considerations and restraints in the Prussian abuse of American friendship and confidence. Exposure along this line has been such as to disarm surprise at any developments that may now and hereafter be made. The thing to which civilized mankind's attention must be drawn is the proof absolute that Prussianism in the twentieth century has reverted to barbarism and made it many fold more deadly and terrible by a sublimated and scientific savagery that ancient barbarism never knew. The wanton spreading of pestilence among non-combatants is an expedient of war that had been left for Prussian kultur to devise and refine.

The possibilities of this method of warfare are almost limitless. Cholera, typhus, tuberculosis and other plagues almost without number can be launched upon the populations of enemy lands to any extent that savage foes may choose to go. Microbe culture can be carried on almost as easily and rapidly as mushroom culture and after a fashion in much the same way. Prussian kultur and cultures seem to have been going with fine concord hand in hand.

STAND BY THE BOYS.

The big drive to be inaugurated tomorrow throughout Indiana to give the people of the state a more thorough awakening to the war their country is in is no mere abstraction of necessity. Loyal as Indiana has been both in spirit and service, we have great need in this state to be brought up standing to the causes and the aims of this war and our duties in it. The people of America must understand that while we are fighting to make the world safe for democracy, we are not a bit the less fighting to make the world safe for America. Our own national future, with everything that American democracy stands for and can imply, is at stake upon the outcome of this prodigious conflict. We are not fighting for a bare victory at arms. If that were true, we would not be fighting at all. We still would be standing aloof, awaiting the day when we might step in and help the old world cease its fearful strife and aid it to heal its wounds. We came into this war when both national honor and national security sternly forbade that we should longer keep out of it. The solemn truth of that must be put into the understanding of all of us. We must now fight the best that is in us to make sure that everything that has made this nation blessed shall become perpetually secure. We must all of us get the solemn truth of that into our heads and the spirit for it into our hearts.

The big drive of this week is purposed to put Indiana completely and wholeheartedly into the service of the nation in the war. Every man and woman in the state can aid directly and greatly by personal interest in the patriotic movement of this week. The young men are going by thousands into the war. Indiana has been no slacker in giving of her flowering manhood to the cause of the nation. Indiana must be no slacker in giving these young men of the armies of liberty every ounce of support that is in her to give. If the people at home fail the soldiers who go abroad the sacrifices made in the field will be so much wanton waste. Let all stand up for the country and its men in the battle.

CONCERNING LA FOLLETTE.

There will be more or less lifting of patriotic voice in the land demanding that one Robert Marion La Follette, sitting in one of Wisconsin's seats in the senate of the United States, be curbed.

We have a notion that this would be a mistake.

To begin with, it would greatly minister to the conceit and excessively appear to confirm the delusion that together obsess the Wisconsin one that he is the sole object of an aggressive pursuit by a truculent wealth.

It furthermore would exercise a restraint at the wrong place of his misguided career and in particular at the wrong point of his insane onset against the government and the nation in this war.

What should be vouchsafed the Wisconsin senator is plenty of rope. Let him go on inspired to farther lengths of his madness by each fresh access of his fury.

It is conceivable that after a time he may get himself worked up to a point where not even the immunities that attend a senator of the United States will have effectual grace to save him.

Let it be, therefore, that Robert Marion La Follette shall have his say right on to the finish—or at least to such nearness of a finish as it can in prudence be permitted him to go.

Many a man has spun the hemp for his own halter.

HELP SOLDIERS' LIBRARY FUND.

We know of nothing that has been proposed for the comfort and diversion of the men of the American armies which can exceed in value the project to raise a million dollars to keep the soldiers supplied with books. The government will look well to the proper feeding and the regulation clothing of the men. Such material comforts as are considered essential to maintenance of the strength and morale of fighting forces the government will supply abundantly. There will be no want of these.

However, there are some things the government will not do and cannot perhaps reasonably be expected to do. One of these things is to establish and maintain libraries. So it is put up to the people of the country to provide the soldiers with books if they are to have them at all. It is a fine purpose that underlies this soldiers' library movement. It will help the boys "over there" to while away a tedious hour and will do them a deal of permanent good besides.

An average of a penny apiece for the total population of the country will produce the million dollars sought in the campaign. The raising of that sum ought to be no more than a dawn to sundown task and we doubt that it will be necessary to continue the effort much beyond that. It is a movement that should enlist the interest of everybody for it means the provision for a need that American soldiers will feel acutely if it be not supplied.

There very well can be some patience with the ultra-pacifists, who go a step too far with their pacifism and tread dangerously into the twilight zone between unwitting folly and treason, and their fellows who merely make a professed pacifism a cloak in which studied disloyalty may the more safely work to its ends. A few weeks or months at the most will bring America's participation in the war to a new stage and when the blood sacrifice of brave men is answered by the jeering of the unwise and misled, the unpatriotic and disloyal, the great body of the people will make recreancy of that sort unpopular and unprofitable enough. But for those who are doing the works of treason and enmity there should be no occasion or disposition to postpone to the judgment of events. Their time is fully come whenever and wherever they can be found.

Some more Liberty Loan bonds are coming. They will be just like the last Liberty Loan bonds, only they will be better. Their tenure will be longer and their interest higher and the government needs the money. There are plenty of reasons for you.

There has been a great blunder of history for nigh two thousand years. The real Prince of Peace is William Hohenzollern. If you don't believe it, commune with his letter to the pope.

THE RED CROSS IN FORT WAYNE.

(This beautiful bit of verse libre was written for the T. C. by a Fort Wayne woman who is very much interested in Red Cross work.)

A long, dim room,
Giving upon a sun-parched street,
And many women,
Who etched, and fold, and knit,
Endlessly.

The staccato clatter
Of sewing machines,
Heard above the toneless murmur
Of voices.

And sometimes a violent song
Struck for silence.

Above, were my eyes not holden,
I should see
A mist of prayer
Shot through
With the sparkle of tears.

Ah, God!
Receive those prayers and tears,
And render them back
Manna-like,
Upon some field
Of hellish agony.

Christianity and the War

(This is the text of a paper on the subject, "Christianity and the War," read before the Fort Wayne Ministerial association by Rev. O. E. Tomes, pastor of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ.)

I say unto you, Love your enemies, pray for them that persecute you.—Mat. 5:44.

So then let us follow after things which make for peace.—Rom. 14:19. Be at peace among yourselves.—Thess. 5:13.

Only let your conversation be as it becometh the Gospel of Christ.—Phil. 1:27.

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me, For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it.—Mat. 24:25.

There are some who insist that war is the normal condition of human life. Great blessings, it is claimed, will flow from the struggle, in a new birth of patriotism, heroism, ethics and religion; and that there is no reason to regret that nine-tenths of the world is at war.

The war toll to the present time is not less than seven millions. The unnecessary killing of that vast number in a period of three years is certainly a calamity, whatever the cause. How many millions have been blinded, crippled, maimed, life in body or mind, no one can tell, but certainly it means the adding of other millions to the dead. John R. Mott, to whom no one has a better opportunity to judge, said in a public address in Washington that in a certain large sector of the English army there were more men unfit for duty because of the ravages of venereal diseases than from the guns of the enemy. This is true to a greater or less extent in every army that has mobilized. This means that not only the present but future generations are to bear in their bodies the marks of lust and greed, turned loose to prey upon, not the old and weak, but the flower of the world's young manhood.

It seems like a descent to turn from the consideration of life and health to take into account the money and property involved in the war. It is estimated that Germany has mortgaged one-fourth of her total wealth. This means that in addition to what it has cost in personal sacrifice, that every German has mortgaged one-fourth of the value of his personal belongings and property to the nation's war debt. The allied situation is not so bad as this, but it is bad enough. Debts are being assumed by our own nation even before we get into action that will fall upon the shoulders of our children's children to pay. This is all apart from the actual destruction of property which in no way can ever be reproduced. Neither does it take into account the withdrawal of so many millions from the productive pursuits of peace times.

Turning from the destruction of life and property to a thing less tangible but none the less important, let us look a moment at the shattering of ideals. An atmosphere of hatred, bitterness and unreasoning passion is fast being created. We do not sense this to any great extent as yet in our own land, but we are moving in that direction, rather than the opposite, and that as a people we are capable of holding such feelings against an enemy is proven by civil war experiences. When the announcements begin to come over of the killed, wounded and "missing," "somewhere in France" of our own boys only the grace of God can keep us from hatred of the enemy. Seven years ago I listened to a series of lectures by perhaps the greatest of all modern scholars in the field of the New Testament canon, Casper Rene Gregory, professor of Theology at Leipzig university. White-haired, kindly in attitude and mien, it seems impossible to associate him with war and bloodshed. But at the age of sixty-eight he entered the German army as a private. He was killed in trench fighting in April of this year. Before entering the army he prepared his epitaph, omitting the date. "Casper Rene Gregory, professor of Leipzig university, fell in battle for the German cause, April 9, 1917. His family must not wear mourning or lament his loss, but should be happy that he is resting with God. Visits of condolence ought to be omitted. He extends a hearty farewell and a hopeful "auf wiedersehen" to all his friends and acquaintances. In the trenches and the side were some of the professor's old students bent on exterminating the Huns among whom was the genial old professor himself. Men like Gregory, Harnack, Eucken, Wundt and others of similar type seem to have lost all moral and spiritual poise as regards their national enemies. They thought of the "Statement of the Intellectuals," issued early in the war to justify Germany's position toward neutrals as well as enemies. Something is the matter with the world—this world in which Christians live—to kill and get ready to kill is the major business of nine-tenths of the human family at the present hour.

Someone has said that this world is ruled by ideas. This is certainly true. Back of this war is a system of ideas that gave birth to it. If this is to be the last great war then this system of ideas must be replaced by another which makes for peace.

In Germany the intellectual leadership has been overwhelmingly atheistic. It is possible for an individual to be intellectual and religious at the same time. Plato and Kant both maintained a reverent religious attitude. Both were humble. Kant with gigantic thought power never once thought of overthrowing God. Rather he sought to increase man's faith in the great ethical and religious trinity—God, Freedom and Immortality. But when with intellectual power there goes intellectual pride the leadership can no longer be trusted.

There are two things that stand out in the thought life of Germany and the world, among many others—Schopenhauer—author of "The Will to Live," and Strauss, author of "The Life of Christ." But for the influence of these two, it seems to me there would have been no Nietzsche and no Von Treitschke, no Prussian militarism—and perhaps no world war. Schopenhauer in his "Will to Live," makes God a sort of cosmic force which keeps up life on the planet. Perhaps for us the war "impulse" would be thought throughout the world. Thomas Hardy, the novelist, popularized it in England and America. The millions who have read the writings of Elbert Hubbard in this country got it in a diluted and exceedingly popular form. Let us hope that it has been sunken to the bottom of the sea, so far as this country is concerned, and that in the land to which it is native, it is even now being shot to pieces or given the gas.

Strauss struck at the roots of the historical Christianity. And once a man is convinced that the Gospel records of the life of our Lord do not represent any concrete reality his religion is effectively dynamited and destroyed. Voltaire's theory was that Matthew, Mark, Luke, John and Paul were either "knaves or fools." Strauss held that they were simply imaginative orientals, who saw visions and wrote them down as facts. He held up "The Christ of Faith" as being sufficient. But when one loses the historical Christ, the Christ of Faith soon disappears. Strauss began his career as a devout champion of faith. Gradually he drifted until at the age of sixty he had no sympathy for or belief in Christianity. His "Life of Christ" has had a tremendous influence upon German and French thought, and to a less extent upon English and American. A recent writer in Pearson tells us that Count von Bernstorff, of diplomatic notoriety, claimed to have received his religious inspiration and impulse from reading the works of Strauss.

Two other names, coming more recently and touching directly the present generation, must be mentioned—Nietzsche and Von Treitschke. I cannot in this paper enter into any comprehensive discussion of the philosophy of these two men. Both of them drew their ideas from Schopenhauer and Strauss. They popularized and realized them. For one seeking to know the philosophical foundation of this war a study of the teaching of these two men is necessary, for their thought forms the upper foundation stones upon which was built the Prussian militarism.

Nietzsche is the great apostle of pessimism. In "Zarathustra" one of his books, there rings the phrase: "God is dead. God is dead." This is the assumption of all of his writings. His attitude toward Christianity can be gained from this quotation: "The Christian church is to me the greatest of all imaginative corruptions; it has the will to the ultimate corruption of the world. The church has left nothing untouched by its depravity; it has made a worthlessness out of every value, a lie out of every truth, a baseness out of every straightforwardness."

You say that certainly this is the ravings of a mad man. It is true that his last publication was given out for the use of the insane, and retaining the consistent attitude of his whole life and teaching toward Christianity. His philosophy was that of the superman. The whole universe is striving to produce the superman or a few supermen, the law of whose being is to make themselves stronger at the expense of the weaker. Morals do not exist for the superman. He says that there is no use in giving up God and retaining the prison house of an ethical system which is the result of such a belief. His book, "The Will to Power," is undoubtedly inspired by Schopenhauer's "The Will to Live," although he would not admit it. His egotism is shown in the fact that he said that he was too proud to make friends because there were none alive of the same rank as he. He makes the state simply nature's round about way of producing a few great individuals. You see where the Kaiser gets his religion. So far as the weak needing protection from the strong, it is rather the opposite, the strong need protection from the weak—I, e.—against the unified jealousy of the weak, made manifest by numbers. Ethnic codes and religions, especially Christianity, are nothing more than schemes of the weak to protect themselves against the great, by applying these false standards to all. All the old rules of morality must give way. The Übermensch is beyond good and evil. Morality exists for the mediocre. He looks forward to a society, a new order, a result of the survival of the fittest, resting upon a slave system, kept pure by eugenic methods.

The significance of all this is in the fact that Nietzsche works are the most popular of any in Germany, and his influence is not unmet in England, France and America. In the gymnasium, in the trenches and throughout the student class, which always form the leadership of a nation, his philosophy has been accepted as a religion.

Nietzsche was the great philosopher, Von Treitschke the great teacher. He made practical the philosophy of Schopenhauer, Strauss, Hegel, Haeckel and Nietzsche. He formed it into a religion, in which the state was worshiped. "Deutschland über alles," expresses it. A practical statement of his position may be summed up in the motto of Robin Hood: "They shall take who have the power and they shall keep who can." He had no use for Americans. He said: "There can be no question at all but that human civilization suffers every time a German is turned into a Yankee."

This philosophy in various disguises, made practical in many forms, has permeated and predominated the life of Germany for two or three decades. If accounts, as I see it, not only for the beginning of the war, when neutrality treaties were considered as "scraps of paper," but for the German's justification for the horrible and unthinkable atrocities which have accompanied its prosecution.

This is a war, not of armies, nor of nations, but of ideas. Give victory to the German aims and you open the world for the predominance of German thought. It would retard the progress of the simple gospel of Jesus Christ for centuries and give an endless lease on life to autocracy at the expense of democracy. We abhor war; but all wars have not been futile. When Charles Martel turned the Saracens back east at the battle of Tours, in 732, he saved European civilization from Mohammedan predominance. To defeat Germany in the present war means to save the world not only from militarism, but from materialism as well—unless in the conduct of it we are taken captive by the same philosophy which has given birth to the struggle. In view of all this it seems to me that there is only one thing that

But we are fighting. What shall be our attitude in the fight? Can we fight as Christians? Well, it may be difficult, but at least we can conscientiously try. We must not only stand by our country, but by our Master. We must uphold and magnify His will. We must insist from the beginning that nothing shall be done in America or "somewhere in France" out of harmony with His will. We must turn the people's gaze to God's purpose for the race as against narrow nationalism. We must be careful not to exalt democracy to the place of a religion and make patriotism and devotion to God as wholly synonymous. We must set our faces as a flint against greed and hate, and demand that no eye be taken for an eye, and no tooth for a tooth. We must remember that God has made no provision for letting down the moral law on account of the exigencies of war. Military necessity must not take the place of right. We must be careful that America uses no severer force than is necessary to meet the high aims to which President Wilson has given utterance, knowing that the end justifying the means upon the prerogative of God himself. "Vengeance belongeth unto me: I will recompense, saith the Lord." As a father must not lay aside his fatherhood when he punishes his son, so must we not lay aside our brotherhood when called to fight our fellow men. The father does not punish his son with glee or hate, but with a breaking heart.

We must guard the moral manhood of the nation both at home and at the front. Every moral and religious opportunity should be afforded. Christian activities should not only not suffer, but should be mightily strengthened in these times so pregnant with peril and possible good. We must hearten the boys at the front and comfort the mothers at home. We should use the opportunity which the presence of death gives to invite men to accept eternal life.

We must pray. Perhaps at no place in the Christian experience has the problem of the war pressed more heavily.

A Chicago minister recently suggested that we have a day of prayer for Germany. I can imagine the flippant reply of the thoughtless to that suggestion. "Believe me, I'd like to pray for the Kaiser; where I'd consign him would be a plenty." But that is not the spirit of the Christian. Jesus said that we should pray for our enemies.

We remember that today in Germany, which is largely a Protestant country, prayers are ascending in the churches for the destruction of the enemies of the fatherland, and that in England, which is largely a Protestant country, prayers are going up for precisely the opposite purpose. In Austria, which is predominantly a Catholic country, they are praying that Italy, France and Belgium, largely Catholic, may be destroyed. In the latter countries they are asking the same God to destroy Austria. Really, I don't think America has begun to pray much about the war. But if we are Christians we will pray. What of our prayers?

It seems to me that nothing better can be said than was said by the editor of the Watchman-Examiner, a Baptist publication in New York, of recent date: "There must be much confession in our prayers in these war days, for humiliation is a part of prayer. All the warring nations, our own included, have many sins upon which the judgment of God must rest. Let us not as a nation be pharisaical in spirit. Let us confess our sins and not the sins of others. When we go to God in prayer let us remember our personal sins, which are many and grievous, and our domestic and social sins, which in many quarters threaten the sanctity of the home. Let us remember also our commercial sins, our political sins and our national sins, and they are many and grievous also. Many of our great fortunes have been built up upon injustice and tyranny. Many of our political leaders have been in the halls of legislation with a view to the hauls of spoil, and throughout the nation there is a mighty battle being waged between Jehovah, the true God, and Moloch, Mammon, Baal and Baalzebub. Let us confess and forsake our sins for we are far from being a perfect people. In our war-time prayer there is much room for humbling. An Old Testament writer said: "I will bless the Lord at all times." And a New Testament writer said: "In everything give thanks."

Let us thank God for our years of prosperity and peace. The present generation knows but little of the terrors and sacrifices of war. Let us thank God for the unity of our nation. The ends of the earth have poured in upon us and in these days we are proving that America is a great melting pot. The war into which we have entered will bring to the surface the fittest and fittest of our national life and enable us to eradicate, in a wholesome way, our few inharmonious elements; as witness the experience with the I. W. W.

We may well thank God for our hatred of war. We have turned to it only as a terrible necessity. Let us thank God for the millions of young men who while hating war are willing to go to war for their country's sake. We are justified at all for being at war then we have a perfect right to pray God's blessings upon those who are fighting our battles on land and sea. Let us pray that Christian faith shall not fall nor Christian hope grow dim as the boys go down at sea or "over the top."

In these war days there must be much of submission in our prayers. Recall that night at Gethsemane when Jesus said: "O my Father, if possible, let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." There are many bitter cups being drunk the world around today. There are cups being mixed this very hour for the American people. May God give us courage to drink them if it is not His will that they pass from us.

CHARMING IN THIS NEW COSTUME OF BROWN VELVET AND BEAVER

Already women's minds turn longingly toward velvets and furs, for the frosty days bring home to most of them the fact that already their pretty summer clothes are out of season, and warm ones are needed. Brown is a splendid color for cold weather, anyhow, and one that is fortunately becoming to many types of women.—Copyright Underwood & Underwood.

AT THE PALACE

BULLY BILL AT PALACE.

Louis Hart, the Great Howard, Hirschel Hendler and Others.

It's a bully bill that's on at the New Palace for the first portion of the week, with the marvelous Louis Hart, Hirschel Hendler the Great Howard, the Melody Six and others on it. Mr. Hart is a splendidly developed man whose appearance of slender and whose lack of stature makes one wonder where he keeps all that muscular strength until he appears in some poses that display his tremendous muscles to splendid advantage. His act is a series of astounding feats of strength and sense of balance done in an atmosphere of class that makes one readily understand why it has been such a favorite through Europe and America.

Hirschel Hendler, the poet of the piano, a young fellow with a wealth of showman's tricks as well as unusual ability as a pianist to put him over the Melody Six, a sextette of winsome girls in instrumental and vocal numbers, presenting a dignified and musical act; the Great Howard in his ventriloquist comedy, "At the Regimental Doctor's," and introducing his new song hit, "Somewhere in France is Daddy." Al Shayne, the nuttiest of nuts, as "The Singing Beauty," in freak song and absurd noises, and George and Mae LaFevre, the dancing delights are others on this bill.

Ladies' dancing class forms Tuesday, 2:30 p. m. Trier's Minuet.

TURN BULLET SHIRT FROM JAPANESE SILK.

BY JUDGE HENRY NEIL (Father of Mothers' Pensions.)

A great life-saving discovery for the use of men at the front is that a shirt made of 25 layers of thin Japanese silk will prevent an ordinary shrapnel bullet or a bayonet thrust from puncturing the body. This shirt weighs about three pounds, it covers the body from shoulders to hips, back and front. It has no sleeves, it is splendid, warm protection in cold weather.

It has long been known that the thin paper leaves of a book in a soldier's vest pocket have stopped a bullet, and now it is demonstrated that a bullet from a pistol even at quite a close range will not go through twenty-five layers of silk laid close together like the leaves of a book.

When a projectile strikes with such great force that it goes through the body it carries the silk through, wrapped around it, and protects the wound from being poisoned.

Women in England whom I told about this new armor at once started cutting up their silk wedding dresses and other silk garments to make these shirts for the English soldiers.

An interesting experiment is to hang a dozen silk handkerchiefs along a clothes line, three feet apart, suspended by a very thin thread, tied to the center so that the four sides will hang loosely, then fire a bullet from a pistol so that the shot will strike one after the other of the handkerchiefs.

The shot will break the suspending thread and carry each handkerchief along until it has gathered all in a bunch, when the force of the bullet will be expended and it will drop to the ground.

Soldiers discontinued wearing steel armor because a bullet would go through it.

Fireless Cooker Saves Fuel Cost

By BIDDY BYE.

The fireless cooker had a great vogue several years ago as a labor saver. Now the high price of fuel brings the fireless cooker to the front as a fuel saver.

The commercial cookers have been perfected to the point of baking and roasting, but for all boiling and stewing processes, including the cooking of meats, vegetables, fruits, cereals and even custards, a fireless cooker of the entirely satisfactory character can be made at home.

First there must be a box or other container to hold some non-conductor of heat. It must be fitted with a good cover.

Second, there must be some insulating lining material.

Third, there must be a covered kettle or bucket to hold the food.

A trunk, an icebox, a galvanised can and a wooden candy bucket are among the articles which have been used successfully in the construction of a fireless cooker.

Among non-conductors of heat which have been used to line the box are hay, straw, sawdust, ground cork, shavings, cotton batting, crumpled paper, mineral wool and asbestos.

The two materials last named have the advantage of being non-inflammable.

There should be at least three inches of packing between the inner bucket or kettle and the outer box. It is a good plan to cover the inner bucket with asbestos paper.

After the inner bucket has been set in the box and surrounded by the packing, a cushion filled with insulating material should be placed upon it, and the cover of the outer box should be weighted down.

In fireless cooking, the food is first boiled or stewed on an ordinary range in the usual way. Then it is transferred to the fireless cooker where the process is completed by means of insulating the heat which the food has stored up.

Turkish Pilau.

The ingredients are: One cupful macaroni, broken in one-inch pieces; 2 cupfuls steamed tomatoes strained; 1 cupful stock or water; 1 medium-sized onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 teaspoonfuls sugar, pepper, 1 cupful cheese, grated or shaved.

Soak the macaroni in cold water for one hour drain it and place it in the food container. Add the other ingredients except the cheese bring the mixture to the boiling point and set in the cooker 2 hours. Remove the onion and the bay leaf, and add the cheese. Allow the kettle to remain in the cooker one hour. Stir the pilau lightly with a fork before serving it.

Italian Macaroni.

The ingredients are: One cupful macaroni, broken in one-inch pieces; 2 cupfuls steamed tomatoes strained; 1 cupful stock or water; 1 medium-sized onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 teaspoonfuls sugar, pepper, 1 cupful cheese, grated or shaved.

Soak the macaroni in cold water for one hour drain it and place it in the food container. Add the other ingredients except the cheese bring the mixture to the boiling point and set in the cooker 2 hours. Remove the onion and the bay leaf, and add the cheese. Allow the kettle to remain in the cooker one hour. Stir the pilau lightly with a fork before serving it.

Stewed Corn Bread.

The ingredients are: Two cupfuls sour milk, 1/2 cupful molasses, 2 eggs, 2 cups corn meal, 1 1/4 cupful white flour, 1 teaspoonful soda, 1 teaspoonful baking powder, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1/2 cupful lard or drippings.

Beat the eggs and add to them the milk and molasses. Sift the dry ingredients and add them to the liquid. Then add the melted fat. Pour the mixture into a well-buttered mold. Place the mold in a kettle and surround it with boiling water. Allow it to boil 35 minutes; transfer the kettle to the cooker, and steam the bread 5 hours.

The Apparel Sections Are Filled to Overflowing With Women's Smartest Clothes!

And when you buy a Coat, a Suit a Dress here, you are sure that

- The Styles are Right.
- The Qualities are guaranteed
- You are not paying more than the garments are worth

We are firmly Convinced that such a choice, wide selection of up-to-the-minute fashions have never before been presented to women of Fort Wayne. Your inspection is invited.

Each Day Brings New Dresses!

Jerseys are beginning to share honors with the serges of earlier Fall, and new models of the fabric are very clever. The fine tailor-made serges are very strong, and appeal to most women as being practical and good looking. Satins are much in demand, and can be secured here in stunning individual styles for those who want the newest, smartest thing.

Again we see the season's influence in colors leads to black and navy, but, of course, the others are shown too, and new shades of beaver and mole are especially good.

Many of the dresses show touches of fur or rich embroidery as the trimming motif. Prices range from $25.00 to $100.00, the models at $30.00, $40.00 and $50.00 being unusual values.

Many New Suits Have Just Been Received---

Wonderfully attractive garments that bear the stamp of leading American and French suit makers. Many direct copies of imported models are on display this week, and of these there are only one of a kind. The smartest suits are made of Silverton, Suede cloth, Glove Skin, Cashmere, Velour and Broadcloth, and the medium light shades predominate. Jackets are for the most part hip length and longer, and are either plain or fur-trimmed, and bear evidence of hand tailoring. Prices range from $22.95 to $225.00, directing particular attention to the showing at $40.00 and $50.00.

Wonderful Coats

Coats were never so attractive, and many show the military influence without losing the charm of femininity. Much fur is used in collar, cuffs and trimmings, although many handsome effects can be had without fur for immediate wear.

The shades are particularly lovely, the beauty of the tones being enhanced by the richness of the fabrics. And the furs most used with them are wolf, Hudson Seal and Fox.

All are exquisitely lined and show a new silhouette that is becoming to nearly every type. Priced from $19.95 to $200.00, with special values at $40.00, $50.00 and $60.00.

Separate Skirts Are Much in Demand

And really a necessary part of the season's wardrobe to save the wear given one's suit skirt. And as soon as you see these clever models you'll want one—they are so new, so different and so attractive to wear with the lovely blouses.

Novelty cloths, plaids and prominent stripes are used for the practical little skirts, with many handsome models developed of taffeta, satin and broadcloth.

There's a vast assortment of styles from $5.00 to $27.50, with special values at $7.50 to $15.00.

Blouses Are Irresistible In Their Loveliness

This season, the blouses are characterized by their simplicity and smartness of line. Many new touches are noted that have never been used before in blouse trimming—such as a collar and cuffs of lovely green suede, or insets of white broadcloth used on stunning suit shades.

You will want one of these charming suit blouses for the new suit or skirt, and for more dressy wear are the light pastel shades trimmed with hand-made fillet or crochet laces, hand-embroidered effects, beads, soutache and braids.

For more practical wear, washable satins and crepe de chins, with high or low neck, and every style distinctive. An immense showing at $5.00 to $30.00.

NO IRRELEVANCIES IN COURT SESSION

Judge Forces Colored Men to Talk Straight to the Point.

"Well judge, me and my wife was playin' and she says I played a little too rough with her," explained O. B. Bannard, colored, Holman street. "Wait a minute," interposed Special Judge Attorney Frank Kleekamp, who presided over city court Monday morning. "Were you drunk?"

"I had been drinkin', judge, but—" started in Bannard.

"Fine $5 and costs," stated the judge, and the case was ended.

Smith Harris, colored, who rooms with the Bannard family, was charged with having a part in the same affair, in which Mrs. Bannard played a prominent part. Harris ambled to the witness chair.

"Now, judge, I was—" drawled Harris. "Hold on. Were you drinking?" interrupted Judge Kleekamp.

"I had a couple drinks, but—" Harris proceeded.

"You are fined $1 and costs," uttered the judge and a second case was through.

Had No Excuse. Art Kleekamp, 23, had no excuse, he said, for driving his Ford racer from Concordia college to Walton avenue at 35 miles an hour Saturday. His hearing was therefore of brief duration. He was fined $25 and costs.

All Over Now.

Maud Loraine, who had interrupted business in her husband's saloon on Calhoun street, while intoxicated, Friday night, was in a quiet mood Monday morning.

"You will not try to wreck your husband's business again?" she was asked.

"No sir," came the answer.

"You may go," said the judge.

Case is Continued. The case of James Damma, charged with stealing a watch from the chef of a Pennsylvania dining car is continued until Thursday. Damma proclaims his innocence and will employ an attorney.

David Meien, 35, is ill and was unable to answer a loitering charge. He will be tried on Thursday.

comes in about said office boy scheming to attend the national pastime of the afternoon.

He is awfully good at doing things, especially the opposite. For instance, if a message is to be delivered in five minutes he'll think about doing it for five minutes, then eat his lunch, then forget all about the message, then remember it about 5 minutes to 5.

He usually lasts about five months. When given notice he is to be let go, he goes around and informs everyone he is going to quit and take a job that pays three times as much. He imagines his old boss will come weeping after him in a couple of weeks because the business is going to the canines since he left.

MEETING FOR WAR SERVICE

Rousing Demonstration at Court House Tuesday Night.

DESIRE ATTENDANCE SOLDIERS' PARENTS

Judge Eggeman to Preside and Byron Somers One of the Speakers.

A big demonstration of American enthusiasm for the war and America's cause, the defense of her ideals of government as set out by the national, state and county councils of defense, is expected at the Fort Wayne meeting at the court house Tuesday evening. The meeting is one of ninety-two, one for each county of the state, in accordance with the plans of the state defense council, which has selected the best speaking talent in the state for the purpose.

For the local meeting Byron Somers, of this city, has been chosen as one of the speakers. The other two men are Herman Wille, a prominent attorney of Elwood, Ind., and Fred I. King, of Wabash, both former members of the legislature and both well known speakers. Judge Eggeman will preside at the request of the chairman of the Allen County Patriotic Council, W. H. Scheiman.

The subject of the speakers will be war service and it is the special desire and hope of the defense council that parents of young men who have been called into the army service will attend the meeting here as elsewhere in the state. The meetings are the consummation of the idea developed by the State Defense Council that the people are not all awake to the real war situation and it is expected that mothers and fathers of boys who are in the service should be present Tuesday night at the court house.

Parents Invited. Mr. Scheiman, president of the defense council, in a statement last night declared that it was the particular wish of the defense council and the Allen County Patriotic Council that mothers and fathers of boys who are in the service should be present Tuesday night at the court house. "The war is here," declared Mr. Scheiman. "There is no way out of it except to fight our way to victory to sustain the American system of government."

Four-Day Campaign. Red Cross work, food conservation and numerous other movements in connection with the war will be discussed by the speakers. A partial list of the teams of speakers and the places where they will speak in northern Indiana on Sept. 25, 26, 27 and 28 is printed below. The list of names includes several prominent local men:

On Wednesday he will speak on old soldiers' day at the Bluffton street fair, and on Thursday he will accompany the national commander-in-chief, Orlando A. Somers, to Martinsville, where a number of reunions will feature veterans' day. He may have another engagement on Friday.

It was reported by Corporal Charles P. Thompson, who visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Thompson, of East Pontiac street, over Sunday, that Co. E will entrain for Camp Selby at Hattiesburg, Miss. next Wednesday. Jay Havice Promoted. Word has been received from Camp Mills, Garden City, Long Island, that Jay Havice, son of Dr. Havice, of Fort Wayne, has been made first sergeant of Battery B, one of the Fort Wayne units in the 159th field artillery. This promotion has been deserved by the young man for he proved his splendid while in the Mexican border, and is now with his unit awaiting the call to France.

Dr. Wells Answers Call. Dr. H. O. Wells, of Fort Wayne, left Sunday for Rock Island, in response to his call for immediate service in the medical reserve corps of the United States army.

BUSINESS IS BETTER IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Fines of Present Year Are $2,615 Ahead of 1916.

War time prosperity has reached the city court. Fines paid this year into the coffers of the Fort Wayne municipal court $9,546. The amount is $2,615 above the sum of fines for the first nine months of 1916. The total of the first three quarters of the present year, to date, is within $89 of all the money taken in from fines during 1916.

A comparison of the amounts paid into the city court in fines during each month of 1916 and 1917 follows:

Month	1916	1917
January	$452	$765
February	775	995
March	706	798
April	519	709
May	892	1,103
June	800	1,716
July	867	989
August	1,116	1,311
September	805	1,201

Total $6,932 $9,546. The total collection for 1916 amounted to $6,935. Metaphorically speaking the balloon went up during the month of June, when the gain of 1917 was $916 over the previous year. Much of the money was paid in by traffic violators. In one day the heedless pilots gave over $170.

Another line of gain was the activities of the city weights and measure department. Four cases of short weight were prosecuted during the month of June.

Growth of the city of Fort Wayne and the prosperity which has enabled offenders are accountable for the constant increase in the number of court cases and the raise in the amount paid into the court, officials say.

RETURN FROM CONVENTION. George M. Haffner, J. B. Franke, Arthur A. Berry, Tom Kaough and Ernest R. Emrick have returned from Chicago, where they attended the annual convention of the National Association of Master Bakers. Mr. Haffner was selected as spokesman to address the Chicago Women's Association of Commerce, which body asked the bakers to attend a meeting of its organization.

Many votes will be lost in the coming city election unless an erroneous impression, held by a number of men, is corrected. The citizens registered at the court house for the constitutional convention and the election will make a mistake.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS WAR MANAGERS IN THE GREAT CONFLICT THAT ENGAGES UNITED STATES

By MILTON BRONNER. (Staff Special.) Washington, Sept. 24.—America has been in the war five months. In that time President Wilson has created a super cabinet which, under his close direction is really running the war. It has powers never dreamed of before in the United States. Of its ten members, six work for Uncle Sam for nothing.

Of the ordinary cabinet members also members of the super-cabinet there is first, Newton D. Baker, the quiet, efficient little lawyer who used to be the reform city solicitor and mayor of Cleveland, and who now has the job of bossing the biggest armies America has ever created. He largely devised the selective conscription bill and has been charged with carrying it out.

Josephus Daniels, the North Carolina newspaper editor, hammered time and again because he interfered with the United States army, will be in charge of the American navy, is responsible not only for hunting down German U-boats, but also for conveying our transports and supply ships to France. In addition, his orders are law to our high seas fleet and to our navy shipyards. The close of the war will find our navy second to only England's.

VENDER CHARGED WITH SELLING BAD PEACHES

Complaint by Housewives Causes Arrest of George Bailey.

City Health Officer Josse signed an affidavit charging George Bailey, a vender, and one of the salesmen on the city market with selling rotten peaches Monday morning. Bailey sold a basket of peaches to a woman living on Barr street, it is alleged, and more than half of the fruit was rotten.

The vender was arrested as he was preparing to leave the market place. He is at liberty under $25. His hearing is set for Tuesday morning in city court. Health Officer Josse states that he has received complaints from women who purchased fruit of Bailey before Monday morning. When the health department was called by the housewife Monday Josse made a trip to the Barr street home. He found the peaches which had been delivered to be badly rotted, he states.

Bailey says that he sent another man to deliver the fruit and that his helper left the wrong basket of peaches at the Barr street residence. If the man is convicted his fine will be $10 and costs.

FOUR MILES OF PIPE LAID.

The city water works department has just completed the laying of four miles of water mains. The improvement has cost $42,040, or nearly twice what the installing of a like length of mains last year cost.

Piping for the mains has been laid to secure this year, according to Charles B. Yobst, superintendent of water line construction. A part of the work has been retarded because of delays in delivery. Nearly a mile more of six inch pipe is to be laid before cold weather. During 1916 the cost of laying water mains was fixed by the water works department at $1 a foot. This year $2 a foot are necessary. The increase in the cost of piping is the reason for the raise.

MANY MISTAKEN.

Many votes will be lost in the coming city election unless an erroneous impression, held by a number of men, is corrected. The citizens registered at the court house for the constitutional convention and the election will make a mistake.

Many votes will be lost in the coming city election unless an erroneous impression, held by a number of men, is corrected. The citizens registered at the court house for the constitutional convention and the election will make a mistake.

William Gibbs McCadoe is one of the super-cabinet by reason of the fact that he does out the millions to our allies. Up to date he has thus given out over $2,000,000,000. Of course, this money is being spent right in America for supplies and McCadoe, as the man behind the dough-bag, is insisting that it be spent as economically as possible, so the loans will not have to be repeated too often.

E. N. Hurley is chairman of the United States shipping board, the greatest maritime organization ever known. This board has not only taken over all German ships interned here at the beginning of the war, but has managed to keep the lines open for the construction for foreign buyers. In addition, it is giving out contracts for an immense amount of new shipping. Hurley's job is to build that famous bridge of ships across the Atlantic.

Herbert C. Hoover's activities concern every farmer and every person who eats his bread. He has the power to fix the price of food.

The other man whose work affects every American is Prof. Harry A. Garfield, son of the martyred president, formerly a college head. As coal director all he has to do is to fix prices and see that every section gets its fair supply.

RIVER PARK WOULD ENTHRONE BEAUTY

Supt. Jaenicke Thinks St. Joe Project is Acme of Civic Pride.

Building of the St. Joe river park, which is being proposed in connection with the St. Joe river dam movement, would be the crowning of nature's finest beauty, says Adolph Jaenicke, park superintendent, after a visit to the territory along which 250 acres of park land is expected to extend.

The elongated strip of timbered land, which is proposed to be converted into a park after the river dam is completed, lays between the Robison park car line and the St. Joe river, starting a half mile above the Centlivre brewery. Plans for laying out the park have been made out by officers of the St. Joe River Dam and Park association.

If the park is established it will be laid out in beautiful drives and will be intersected by lagoons for boating. There will be wading pools and a swimming pool. A golf link is also planned for the park land. The drawings now made out call for two pavilions and several camping sites. The park land would extend to the paper mill dam.

William Breuer, head of the St. Joe River Dam and Park association, and a member of the city park board, A. J. Vesey, F. L. Barthold, Charles J. Steiss, secretary to the park board, and Adolph Jaenicke, park superintendent, visited the proposed park site Saturday. "The natural beauty of the place gives it the promise of making one of the most picturesque parks in Indiana," said Adolph Jaenicke, who was quite carried off his feet by the prospects for another breathing spot for Fort Wayne.

PHILS TAKE TWO GAMES FROM CHICAGO CUBS

Twenty-Ninth Victory is Scored by Alexander—National League.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—A huge time was had by the Cubs in the farewell double bill with the Phillies. They took both games 4 to 1 and 11 to 4, thus making a clean sweep of the series of five contests. By winning one of the games Sunday the Cubs could have clinched the pennant for the Giants. The North Siders are not in the mood for helping anybody. They are looking out for themselves in the closing days of the season.

Alexander came back for the second game in the set and capped the first game from the long suffering Douglas and Mike Frendergast. This win brought Alex's total up to twenty-nine. He allowed the Cubs six hits and it was an awful job to get one tally. Triples by Flack and Kil-duff in the third before a hand was out insured the Cubs this run. Alex then proceeded to retire the side in his own impenetrable style, leaving Pete Kilduff gasping on third. Score: R.H.E. Philadelphia.....0 10 0 12 0 0—4 9 2 Chicago.....0 0 1 0 0 0 0—2 6 0 Batteries—Alexander and Killifer; Douglas, Frendergast and Dillhoefer and Elliott.

Each Take One. St. Louis, Sept. 24.—Boston closed its last series of the season by dividing a double-header with St. Louis yesterday. St. Louis won the first game 11 to 5 and Boston took the second 7 to 1. Scores: Boston.....0 0 4 0 0 1 0 0—5 6 1 St. Louis.....0 0 1 3 1 1 1 1—11 12 0 Batteries—Barnes, Scott and Trageser; Goodwin, Horstman, Ames and Snyder.

IF GIANTS WIN OR PHILS LOSE, THE RACE IS OVER.

If the lowly Pirates can take today's game from the Phillies the fight for the pennant in the National league will be over and McGraw can complete his plans for the world's series.

If the Giants can down the Cardinals today and the Pirates fail to defeat the Phillies the pennant will still belong to the Giants.

BUT—If the Giants should lose all of their remaining games and the Phillies win all of their games the White Sox would have to play the Quakers in the world's series. The standing then would be:

Team	Win.	Loss.	Pct.
Philadelphia	92	60	.605
New York	93	61	.604

If the Giants win today and then lose all their remaining games while the Phillies win all theirs the standing at the end of the season would be:

Team	Win.	Loss.	Pct.
New York	94	60	.610
Philadelphia	92	60	.605

As a Result Another Game of City Championship Series Will Be Played.

The Lincoln Lifers won the third game of the series for the city championship with Myers' Cubs Sunday by a score of 7 to 2. The other two games were won by the Cubs and as a result one other and perhaps two more games will have to be played to determine the champions. The series were for three out of five.

The absence of Liable badly crippled the Cubs. His place behind the bat was taken by Hoffer, who has not been feeling his best for several days. "Squat" Prince was also out of the game because of a split hand. He has been a great help to the Cubs.

In the event the Lincoln Lifers win next Sunday, and Mart Cleary says there is no doubt but that they will, a double-header will be played, closing the baseball season in Fort Wayne.

CARROLL JOHNSON BACK. Champaign, Ill., Sept. 24.—Football prospects at Northwestern university will be brightened today by the return of Carroll Johnson, of Ogden, Ill., one of the last year's varsity men on the purple eleven. Johnson played in four games for Northwestern last season, being a brilliant end. He was taken ill in midseason and was unable to participate in the final games. He has been keeping fit working on his father's farm near Ogden. Johnson's name has been among those listed as having joined the service but this is incorrect.

TIGERS DEFEATED. The Bachelors opened the football season at Swinney park Sunday by defeating the Tigers 28 to 0. Both teams displayed remarkably good early season form, but the superior teamwork of the Bachelors enabled them to cross their opponents' goal and hold them clear of the danger line. This evening the Bachelors will meet at Library hall for blackboard practice, which starts at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be on hand.

CAN YOUTH AND PEP DEFEAT AGE AND EXPERIENCE?

ROWLAND

Will youth and pep overcome age and experience and win the world series?

Will a bush leaguer be able to match wits with one of the craftiest managers who ever held the reins over a major league team, a man who in his day was one of the brainiest players baseball has produced?

Above all the relative merits of the two teams the question of managerial ability will present itself when the Giants and White Sox lock horns.

On one side, McGraw, crafty, brainy, master of all the sleight of hand of baseball and backed by years of practical experience in regular season games and in the world series.

On the other Rowland is younger, his experience is confined to two years in the majors and several years in the minors, he has never been compelled to withstand the test of fire. But he is full of pep. His players like him, who stands for a great deal, and he is working uncomplainingly under one of the greatest handicaps which ever confronted a manager.

Rowland is facing the situation that if he wins he will not be given credit; the comment will be "Comiskey bought a pennant winner for him; he couldn't help winning"—if he loses he will be blamed for the defeat.

McGraw, on the other hand, will be given credit for winning, although his team is as much the result of careful purchase as Rowland's, and if he loses he will be acquitted with honor, with alibis galore. And this is as it should be, for McGraw will not be the one to blame if his club loses.

But neither will Rowland be entirely to blame if his club loses. And Rowland will deserve credit if his club wins, more than McGraw for he is handling a club just as hard to handle as the Giants and he is doing it well without the years of experience McGraw has behind him.

But to go back to the original question, can Rowland's youth, his pep and ambition overcome McGraw's craft, his judgment and experience?

Probably not—McGraw is undoubtedly the greater of the two, but his superiority as a manager is greatly offset by the fact that Rowland constantly has the advice of Charles Comiskey, in his day one of the greatest of managers, who will match craft with craft with McGraw and Eddie Collins, whose previous world series tilts with the Giants will undoubtedly place him in a position to act as adviser to his manager.

But to go back to the original question, can Rowland's youth, his pep and ambition overcome McGraw's craft, his judgment and experience?

Probably not—McGraw is undoubtedly the greater of the two, but his superiority as a manager is greatly offset by the fact that Rowland constantly has the advice of Charles Comiskey, in his day one of the greatest of managers, who will match craft with craft with McGraw and Eddie Collins, whose previous world series tilts with the Giants will undoubtedly place him in a position to act as adviser to his manager.

SOME MORE EXPOSURE

How Germany Tricked and Abused America's Good Faith in Rumania.

STORED DISEASE
GERMS IN LEGATION

High Explosives Also Were Concealed After America Took Charge.

Washington, Sept. 24.—How Germany "shamefully abused and exploited" the protection of the United States by secreting in the German legation at Bucharest, after the American government had taken charge of Germany's affairs at the Rumanian capital, quantities of powerful explosives for bomb plots and deadly microbes, with instructions for their use in destroying horses and cattle, is revealed by Secretary Lansing.

It was another of the series of Mr. Lansing's disclosures of German intrigue, made public without comment in the same manner as the von Luxemburg telegrams which have brought Argentina on the verge of war with Germany, the von Eckhardt letter from Mexico City, and the von Bernstorff telegram to the German foreign office for authorization to spend $50,000 to influence congress.

The latest story is told in a report to the state department by William Whiting Andrews, secretary of the legation at Bucharest, and a letter from Foreign Minister Porumbaru of Rumania.

Buried in Garden.
Parcels and boxes taken into the German consulate at Bucharest with display of great precaution aroused the suspicions of the Rumanian government. On Aug. 27, 1916, the evening prior to the date of Rumania's declaration of war, some of the cases were taken to the German legation, located in a different building from the consulate.

Convinced that the boxes were not taken away from the legation by the German diplomatic mission upon its departure from Bucharest, the Rumanian authorities later ordered the police to find and examine their contents. The police communicated with American Minister Vopicka, then in charge of German interests, who reluctantly assigned Secretary Andrews to observe the search.

The boxes were found buried in the garden of the German legation. German Agent Confesses.
Mr. Andrews' report says: "Upon my return from the examination which resulted in the discovery of the explosives and of the box of microbes, both of which the legation servants admitted having placed in the garden, the former confidential agent of the German minister, Dr. Bernhardt, who had been left with the legation at the minister's request to assist in the care of German interests, admitted his knowledge of the explosives placed in the garden, told me that more were in the garden than had been found, and that a still larger quantity had been buried in the house of the legation, and that still worse things than this box of microbes were contained in the legation, and insinuated that they would have been found even in the cabinets of dossiers which I had sealed.

"Dr. Bernhardt also stated that all these objects had been brought to the German legation after our legation had accepted the protection of German interests, which agreed with the statements of the servants. A similar confession was made to the minister by this man.

Contained High Explosives.
"The protection of the United States was in this manner shamefully abused and exploited. In this instance, at least, the German government cannot have recourse to its usual system of denial."

Fifty-one boxes were taken from the ground in the garden. Fifty of them contained each a cartridge filled with trinitrotoluene saturated with mononitrotoluene, among the most powerful explosives known, one-fifth of each of one being sufficient to tear up a railroad track. In the other box were bottles of liquid found to be cultivations of the microbes of anthrax and glanders. It bore a seal showing it came from the German consulate at Kronstadt, Hungary, and inside was found a typewritten note in German, saying:

"Enclosed 4 phials for horses and 4 for cattle. To be employed as formerly arranged. Each phial is sufficient for twenty animals. If not used, if possible, directly into the animals' throats; if not, into their fodder. Please make a little report on the success obtained there; in case of good results the presence of Mr. Kostoff for one day here would be desirable."

Foreign Minister Porumbaru accompanied his letter with documents to prove the origin of the boxes and their contents.

"It has been possible to prove in an undisputable way," he said, "that before our declaration of war on Austria-Hungary, when observing strict neutrality and keeping up normal relations with the German empire, the personnel of the German legation, violating all rules of neutrality and all duties of diplomatic missions, introduced clandestinely considerable quantities of an extremely powerful explosive and cultivations of microbes destined to infect domestic animals and in consequence susceptible of provoking terrible epidemics also among the human population.

By Diplomatic Courier.
"There can hardly be any doubt about the way by which these substances were introduced into Rumanian territory, the very stringent police measures at all frontier stations taken by the royal Rumanian government since the outbreak of the war and continually made stricter since prove sufficiently that these explosives and microbes cannot have reached this country otherwise than by diplomatic courier."

"On the other hand there can be no doubt the final object of the importation into Rumania as well as about the use to which they were assigned. The explosives and the microbes were intended to be used in Rumania, very probably in time of peace. From this it results that in time of peace members of the German legation, covered by their immunity, prepared in concert with the Bulgarian legation the perpetration on the territory of a neutral and friendly state of plots directed against the safety of this state and against the lives of its subjects."

Violated Hague Rules.
"The royal government makes it its duty to protest against these criminal practices, and especially against the use of the microbes, an illegal weapon and certainly worse than poison, the use of which was formally forbidden by the fourth convention of The Hague, as well as against this violation of the duties and of the loyalty which international law imposes upon diplomatic missions as an exchange for the privileges which are guaranteed to them."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
The great benefit derived from the use of this remedy in cases of coughs and colds has been gratefully acknowledged by many who have used it. Mrs. Ben. F. Blakeney, Decatur, Ill., is one of them. She says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is by far the best medicine for colds and coughs we ever used in our family. I gave it to my children when small for croup and have taken it myself. If all mothers knew as much as I do about this medicine they would appreciate its real worth."—Advertisement.

Samuel Jackson, an Adams express agent running between Chicago and Pittsburg, was killed in the wreck of the Pittsburg passenger train, No. 3, at Shreve, Ohio. When the collision occurred Jackson was thrown down and a heavy wheel toppled over onto his legs and held him to the floor of the car. In vain he attempted to extricate himself, but the wheel was too much for his strength and his only hope for relief was from the rescuing party, whom he could hear at work outside. Then fire broke out in the car and spread rapidly. The cries of the man attracted those on the outside and they hastened to his assistance, but were held back by the flames with the result that Jackson was burned to death.

Women Apt to Say They Are Tired of War Work

By BIDDY BYE.

"I'm so tired of canning, and of meatless days, and bread substitutes, and all the other old war economies," wails a nice just average American woman. And hundreds echo her plaint in their hearts.

Wouldn't it be well for these wearied ones to consider all the other tired people in the world today?

What about the tired men on a thousand miles of battle front?

Doubtless the women of Germany are very tired of their graves.

The tired women of Belgium were robbed of their homes long ago, and now even their right to their own labor has been taken from them. But they endure.

The tired wives of France have given their men to the trenches and now they garner the harvest and press out the wine in their places. But they do no complain.

The tired mothers of England wait while their sons go on—and on—with Haig, or with the North Sea fleet hold the Germans back from ravaging the world.

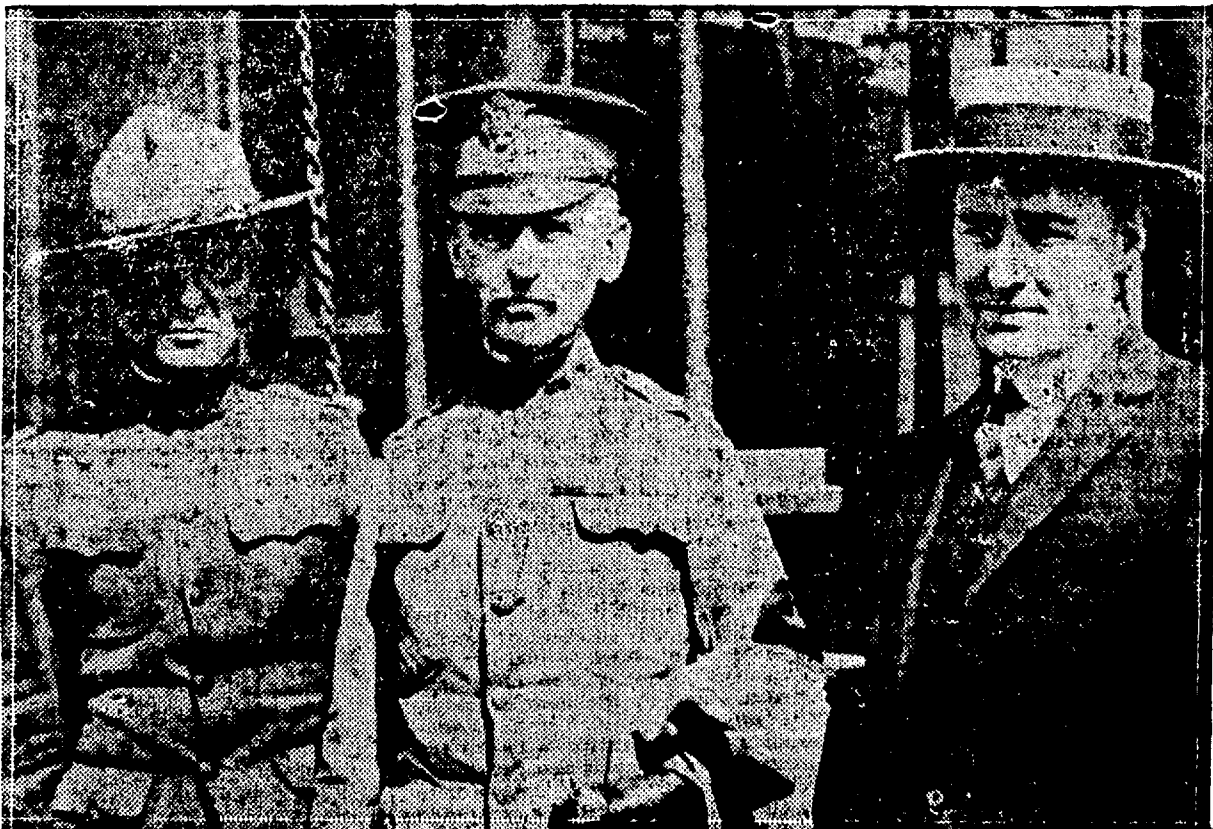

The Russian women are not too tired to take up the sword themselves.

Verily, it is hardly time for the American woman to talk about being "so tired" of war. As yet she has only sent a few thousand men overseas and given a few more thousands to the training camps. She has not yet had to weep over their spilled blood.

She has given up none of her comforts, not even her fine summer furs.

One end of war will be "to win woman from her silliness," says a prophet. Let us hope so. And let us hasten the day by cutting "no tired" out of our daily speech.

Small Containers Best for Dried Foods

Whatever the container used for dried foods—glass, tin or paper—let it be small. This is the admonition of the expert who writes Uncle Sam's cook books.

If a small amount of dried product is put in each receptacle, just enough for one or two meals, it will not be necessary to open a container the contents of which can not be consumed in a short time. The use of the small container also makes it more difficult for insects to spoil large quantities of the dried fruits or vegetables.

If a paper bag is used, the upper part should be twisted into a neck, bent over, and tied tightly with a string.

If a further precaution is necessary the bag can be painted with a brush dipped into melted paraffin. Another precaution may be taken by placing the small bags in a tin container with a tightly fitting cover. All bags should bear a label indicating what they contain.

If fruits or vegetables are packed in tight containers, immediately upon being dried thoroughly, they remain just as brittle as they were when taken from the drier.

If, however, they are not dried thoroughly, they will "sweat" and soon mold. To prevent this the material should be examined within twenty-four hours after packing, and if it appears moist it must be dried further. It will be found advisable to "condition" practically all dried vegetables and fruits.

This is best done in a small way by placing the material in boxes and pouring it from one into another once a day for three or four days, so as to mix it thoroughly and give to the whole mass an even degree of moisture.

If the material is found to be too moist, it should be returned to the drying trays for a short time.

SAVE KITCHEN WARE.

Because of the demand for steel and the shortage of materials which go into the manufacture of enameled, galvanized and tinned wares in use in American kitchens, some thirty manufacturers of these wares have issued jointly an appeal to the housewife to prolong the life of her kitchen utensils.

Three important don'ts are among those laid down for the housewife to follow. They are:

Don't use coarse scouring powders. Don't handle the wares carelessly. Don't heat food in a pan without water.

When it is recalled that more than $100,000,000 is spent each year by American housewives for household utensils, it is apparent that the part which the women of the home can play in national economy is no small one.

Dermatologist Gives Complexion Secret

"The great secret of keeping the face young is to keep off the dead outside," says Dr. J. Mortimer Mitchell. "It is well known that the surface skin is constantly dying, falling off in imperceptible particles, except in some diseased conditions, when the same appears like dandruff. But the particles do not all drop off immediately they die, being held for a while by the live skin.

"To have the dermatological surgeon peel off the entire outer skin at one time is a painful and expensive operation. The same result is obtained by applying ordinary mercurized wax, as you would cold cream, allowing this to remain on over night, then taking it off with warm water. One ounce usually suffices. The process is both painless and inexpensive. The wax, which is procurable at your drug store, hastens the natural shedding process. It gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead skin, revealing the new, healthy, youthful looking skin underneath."—Advertisement.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE AS CAR LEAVES ROAD

Thirteen-Year-Old Bluffton Lads Confused as They Pass Machine.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 24.—Speeding at the rate of thirty miles an hour two Bluffton lads became confused as they met another car and had a narrow escape from death. Ernest Hurt, 13, and Grant Johnson, 14, were returning from Fort Wayne, where they had spent Sunday afternoon and were on their way home when the accident occurred. Witnesses say the boys were on the wrong side of the road and as they met another machine turned to the other side too far and the car fell into a deep culvert. In some miraculous manner, known only by the American boy, both jumped from the machine just before it left the road. Had either been in the machine they would have been killed, for the machine was rendered beyond repair. The machine it is said was rented from a local garage.

The Cat and the Birds

A cat heard that the birds in an aviary were ailing. So he got himself up as a doctor and, taking with him a set of the instruments proper to that profession, presented himself at the door and inquired after the health of the birds. "We shall do very well," they replied without letting him in, "when we've seen the last of you."

stantial Russian victory is reported in the sector south of the Riga Pskov road. Taking the offensive here the Russian forces captured the German positions they attacked, retaining them after a hard struggle. The German losses were more than four hundred in killed and the Russians took a number of prisoners and ten machine guns.
The object of the Russian command in initiating this attack and other operations reported from this front may very likely be the rectification of the line east of Dvina at points where it is now weak. The need of strengthening it where possible is suggested by the assumption on the part of some Russian military critics that it is the aim of the Germans, after establishing ing themselves on this bank of the stream, to push along it toward the southeast for the reduction of Dvinsk, the keystone of the Russian line on the northern front. The Berlin officials statement today claims the capture of large quantities of provisions by the Germans when Jacobstadt on the Dvina was taken in last week's assault.

ORGANIZATION OF NEW ROAD
Hoosier State Automobile association, and chairman of the committee on auto trails, took a leading part in organizing the O. I. M. way.
The new trail, which passes through Fort Wayne, and constitutes a direct route between Cincinnati and Kalamazoo, will make the tenth road out of Fort Wayne to be marked and recognized on road maps. The O. I. M. way connects the eastern and western branches of the Dixie highway, the Lincoln highway, the National Old Trails at Richmond, the proposed Yellow Stone trail, and numerous others.

Man in Each Town.
The organization having been perfected the next step will be the selection of a man in each town to represent the new way. Poles will be painted with a marker designed by A. E. Nissen, special representative of Rand, McNally & Co., whose service to the trails work is in the interest of the good roads department of that company. Three poles will be painted before each turn on the road with the insignia O. I. M. Way, the system in use, on the Lincoln highway being followed out. The purpose of the movement, it is stated, is to concentrate on road improvement and concentrate travel on good highways, thereby making them better. Fort Wayne will be a central point for more highways within the near future, it is said, than probably any other town in the state. Fort Wayne is already on the "Wabash Way" from Fort Wayne to Danville, the Lincoln highway, the Hoosier-Michigan-Indiana way, the Hoosier highway, and a new road which will be taken up for improvement and marking, which will run through Evansville, Indianapolis, Anderson, Muncie, Hartford City, Fort Wayne, Bryan, Ohio, Adrian, Ohio, connecting with main roads to Detroit, and still further west between Fort Wayne and Grand Rapids.
Fort Wayne has been selected a center point of the O. I. M. way and it is especially desired by the organizers that a local man should be at the head of the movement. It is declared by local men interested in the good roads movement that the improvement and marking of the roads as planned, and has already been partly carried out, will be the means of bringing thousands of automobile tourists here next year.

contribution asked from each community based on five per cent. of its population.
President Wilson made a substantial cash donation last Friday and at the same time autographed a number of book plates to be placed in the books purchased with his contribution. The library war council, appointed by Secretary of War Baker, of which Frank A. Vanderlip, the New York financier is chairman, met in New York last Wednesday and formulated final plans.
The $1,000,000 has been subscribed work will start on the library buildings as soon as is practical. Every camp and cantonment will be provided with a library 40 by 120 feet.

Campaign for War Library Funds Will Start Wednesday.
TEAM CAPTAINS ENTHUSIASTIC
Promise Willing Support to Work Under Auspices of the Government.
Soldiers are clamoring for books, and Fort Wayne is ready to do her share toward supplying them. Plans were completed at a luncheon in the Commercial club rooms this noon whereby the city will raise $5,000 of the million dollar fund which is being subscribed throughout the United States this week to supply the soldiers and sailors serving under the Stars and Stripes with proper reading matter.
The campaign is to cover but two days, starting Wednesday morning. Captains of the teams are:
Team No. 1—Captain J. M. Kuhns.
Team No. 2—Captain J. A. Nipper.
Team No. 3—Captain S. A. Callahan.
Team No. 4—Captain Max Blitt.
Team No. 5—Captain Harry Miller.
Team No. 6—Captain Guy Colerick.
Team No. 7—Captain Clint Willson.
Team No. 8—Captain R. W. Fowler.
Team No. 9—Captain A. J. Folsom.
Team No. 10—Captain E. J. Little.
Team No. 11—Captain Frank Edwards.
Team No. 12—Captain W. N. Ballou.
Team No. 13—Captain Louis Moore.
Team No. 14—Captain A. L. Randall.
Team No. 15—Captain W. H. Shambaugh.
Team No. 16—Captain E. W. Cook.
The object of the latest movement to aid the Sammies is twofold in character—economic and sympathetic.
The aims of the campaign are explained by one of the prominent workers as follows:
"We must keep the men in touch with civil life while they are fighting the Hun, and there is just one way to do this—through giving them access to books and magazines which will inform them of world activities and particularly of the developments in their own chosen fields.
"There is also the other side of the great war problem—the necessity of keeping up the moral and mental tone. A good book is invaluable in this direction.
"A good book will relieve the drab of the trench and field life; will comfort the convalescent in the hospital and the homesick. A cheery poem or magazine article will restore good nature when nothing else will bring this about. There are a thousand and one things that reading will do for a man.
"We who stay at home can make the library do double service and we should not only do our share toward making the campaign a success because of our generosity, but because it is our patriotic duty to help this cause."

JUDGE BINGHAM IS AWAITING NEXT MOVE

On Saturday a friend of Judge Bingham was in Wilmington to ascertain exactly the condition of affairs. It now appears that at 3 o'clock on last Tuesday morning (Sept. 18) the disinterment took place, that an autopsy was performed in the presence of William J. Burns and several physicians; that vital parts of the body were removed; and that these parts were turned over to some one and taken to New York. It is needless to say that all of this was surreptitious and was a secret closely guarded until the object was accomplished."

ISSUED THE PERMIT.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 24.—Dr. Charles E. Nesbitt, county health officer, acknowledges today that he has issued a permit for the exhumation of the body of Mrs. Robert Worth Bingham. He explained that the reason he had withheld information was that he had been told by those seeking the permit that they thought a crime had been committed.

MUCH IMPROVED.

D. O. McComb, superintendent of the schools of the county, who has been ill for the past few years with a light attack of typhoid fever, was able to be out Sunday. He spent the day in Hometown and expects to be able to resume his duties as county superintendent the latter part of the week.

TELL THEM DAILY

The business man, the public stenographer, the architect, the moving man, the chiroprapist and the carpenter who advertise in the classified columns of The Sentinel all know how important it is to keep their business announcements before Fort Wayne people every day in the week, month after month. They know that Fort Wayne people use these columns like they use the City Directory or the telephone book, "looking up" what they want to buy in the carefully indexed "For Sale" classification, and using the "Services Offered" column in the same way when they want to get in touch with reliable professional people. Whatever you do can profitably be told every day in The Sentinel.

NOT MUCH "DOING" IN LOCAL MARKETS

Receipts Are Light and There Are No Material Changes in Prices.

There wasn't much "doing" in local markets Monday. Receipts were exceptionally light and there was no material change in prices. Housewives are hoping for reduced prices on city market Tuesday morning, but the chances are not favorable. Prediction is made that eggs may be higher, although hens are laying and there doesn't seem much cause for it. Local millers continue to have considerable trouble in getting wheat. The price remains at $2.02@2.04.

Fourteen loads of hay were weighed at the city scales on Monday, with the top price 50c lower than on Saturday. One load of corn brought $1.85. Four loads of oats brought 55¢@56¢ a bushel.

FAMOUS ACTRESS WHO APPEARED IN AID OF SOLDIERS GOING ABROAD

Following is the peroration of a speech delivered in an intercollegiate oratorical contest in central Kentucky, 1896: "Standing upon the last decade of the grandest century ever measured by the flight of worlds, I dip into the future as far as human eye could see; saw the vision of the world and the wonder that would be; saw the American continent united in the grandest confederacy ever formed; saw it the great sun of the solar system of nations around which all revolved, giving life and liberty to each and prosperity and happiness to all; saw its ports filled with the argosies of commerce; its brow blooming with the wreath of science; the breath of heaven blessing its flag; yet, in the vigor and buoyancy of youth, scorning pessimism and decay, marching ever onward to the accomplishment of its grand and glorious destiny."

Some proprietors of Coney island amusement resorts have attempted the practice of admitting persons free to their places and charging them 10 cents at the exit gates, thus expecting to avoid payment of the war tax on admission tickets.

French Aviator Who Bombs Krupp Works

(Copyright Underwood & Underwood.)
Gallo is one of the best known of the famous aviators France has produced during the war recently, made a wonderful night flight to Essen in Germany and successfully bombed the Krupp works there where much of the Boche's big guns are made. His flight was a record breaker, for he had to fly from France over his own lines and those of the enemy and a goodly distance inside Germany before he reached the great armament plant at Vincennes where he met death instantly in an auto accident. The body was taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Roy Miller. He was an oil driller, and at the time of death was going to Hazelton to join a brother in making a trip to this city for a visit over Sunday. He was a son of Jacob Miller, of the south part of the city.

Decatur Brief Items.
The annual reunion of the Barkley family was held at the Henry Barkley home. The 1918 reunion will be the first Saturday in September. The following officers were elected. President, Jacob Barkley, Jr., Union township; treasurer, Joe Barkley, Union township; secretary, U. S. Cress, Decatur.

The Shakespeare club will have no study programs this year, but will sew for Red Cross. The hostess and the leader will arrange to have sewing machines and sewing on the scene. The opening picnic which cost usually about a dollar apiece, will be dispensed with and the money, twenty-five dollars, given to the War Library fund.

Helen Niblick and Ruby Miller accompanied the Wasteya campfire girls to Fort Wayne for a dinner at the Y. W. C. A. and a theater party afterwards to see "Jack and the Beanstalk." The girls were Mary Suttles, Leona Hunsicker, Veronica Anker, Kathryn Kocher, Gladys and Lucile Butler, Marcia Helm, Helen Swearingen. At Fort Wayne they were joined by Helen Myers.
Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Heller and daughter

Mildred went to Anderson and from there to Fort Harrison to visit with soldier friends.

The body of Alva Aurand, 78, who died at the home of a son at Junction City, O., will be brought here today and taken to the home of a son, Frank Aurand, until Tuesday, when the funeral services will be held at the Berry church.

The New High Class
Suburban Development

Crestholme Circle, the superb new wooded residence section, which forms a part of the larger development, Crestholme, is one of those rare spots which appeals to those who seek a place of refinement amid exclusive surroundings. To such, Crestholme Circle offers every advantage. Situated on high ground overlooking the city, it is divided into seven tracts, none of which is less than an area represented by a space 200x225 feet, and each tract is heavily forested. Every lot fronts on the circular drive extending from Taylor street extended.

Only Five Minutes From Broadway

This wonderful place is also reached on the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction line which makes a stop at Ardmore Station, just a few steps away. The location of Crestholme Circle is such as to make it an ideal home site for those who want to get away from the crowded conditions found in the city. Information may be had from

STEEL PRICES ARE HEAVILY SLASHED

GOVERNMENT COMES TO UNDERSTANDING WITH STEELMAKERS

Cost of Materials Is Brought Down to Less Than Half Former Level in Some Cases.

NEW PRICES ARE SUBJECT TO REVISION

Washington, Sept. 24.—Uniform steel prices for the American government, the public and the allies, which represent reductions of from 40 to 70 per cent in present market quotations, were approved today by President Wilson.

The prices were determined in an agreement reached between steel producers and the war industries board after conferences lasting more than a month.

They were based on cost of production figures furnished by the federal trade commission which made an investigation at the president's direction. Under powers conferred in the priority of transportation act the war industry board will supervise distribution of steel in a manner best calculated to win the war. The agreement stipulates that there shall be no wage reductions in the steel industry and that producers shall exert themselves to maintain capacity production. The prices will become effective immediately and are subject to revision January 1, 1918.

Steel bars at Pittsburgh and Chicago, $2.90 per hundredweight. The recent price was $5.50.

Other prices agreed upon, all subject to revision January 1, 1918, but to become effective immediately, follow:

Iron ore, basic lower lake ports, price agreed upon, $5.05 gross ton. No change.

Coke, Connellsville—Price agreed upon six dollars net ton; recent price sixteen dollars a ton; a reduction of 62.50 per cent.

Steel plates—Basis Chicago and Pittsburgh—Price agreed upon $3.25 hundred weight, recent price $11 hundred weight.

YOUTH IN THRILLING ESCAPE FROM FARM

Local officers have been notified of the thrilling escape which Carl Haines, 19, formerly a member of the German corps company, made from the state farm, several days ago. Haines was sentenced to the penal farm from police court after he had been convicted of stealing a suit case from a signal corps member and several boxes of cigars from a wholesale house.

Haines let himself from an upper window in the main house at the penal farm by using several sheets tied together. He plunged into the woods near the farm. The hunt, which has been waged since that time, has proven unsuccessful.

MUST HELP GERMAN PEOPLE TO OBTAIN CONTROL OF POWER

London, Sept. 24.—The Manchester Guardian considers that the German reply is not strictly an answer to the pope's appeal for peace. The Guardian says:

"We are sorry to say it, but we find a good deal of moral and political cowardice in the note. There was only one way in which Germany could convince the world of the sincerity of her return to the humanities and that was by explaining why she deserted them and what atonement she meant to offer. That would have been the brave thing to do, but Germany hasn't done it."

The Guardian considers that the note shows how far the education of

FRENCH IS MOST POPULAR SUBJECT

Many Want to Learn the Language at Indiana University Branch.

The study of French and public speaking proved to be the most popular courses being offered by Indiana university extension division in this city, as indicated by enrollment figures already compiled. So far more than one hundred persons in Allen county have signed up for college work under the direction of the state university, which will have members of its teaching faculty here regularly to offer instruction.

Public speaking, it is explained, has always been a popular course among students at the university carrying on their studies and it is taken that the same motives actuate those enrolling here at other places.

The journalism and advertising courses are being highly recommended by those in charge of the "little university," and the fact is pointed out that newspapers everywhere are demanding the services of trained men and women.

AMERICAN AIR WARRIOR DOES FRESH STUNTS

Somewhere on the French Front, Saturday, Sept. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lieut. Raoul Lufberry, of Wallingford, Conn., one of the most prominent members of the Lafayette flying corps, continued his brilliant air exploits today when he destroyed one German machine and forced another to land near the front lines. Sergeant Kenneth Marr, of San Francisco, was attacked by four German machines and forced to land when the wires controlling the elevating planes of his airplane were cut by bullets.

The members of the Lafayette squadron witnessed a fight over their own field this morning when a French flyer of another squadron forced down a German machine which crashed to earth about a mile away.

GOV. GOODRICH IS HOLDING HIS OWN IN BATTLE

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 24.—Although the doctors attending Governor Goodrich at a local hospital admitted his condition over Sunday was worse than it has been for several days they announced in a bulletin this morning that he showed slight improvement over last night. The bulletin follows:

"The governor passed a restful night and we feel that his condition at present is a slight improvement over his condition yesterday. The increased aggravation of his bronchitis is not at this time worse than it was three days ago. We feel that his condition is satisfactory under the present circumstances."

The governor's condition was unchanged this afternoon according to the announcement of the attending physicians. Little change was looked for during the rest of the day.

ORGANIZATION OF NEW ROAD

C. J. Munton, of Kendallville, Chosen President of O. I. M. Way.

BIEDERWOLF IS NAMED SECRETARY

Many Out-of-Town Persons Here in Interest of Trail Development.

C. J. Munton, of Kendallville, was elected president of the Ohio, Indiana and Michigan Way at its organization meeting at the Commercial club Monday noon. James A. Hendricks, of Decatur, was selected vice president, and Charles Biederwolf, of Fort Wayne, was chosen secretary-treasurer. The election of officers followed an enthusiastic meeting in which plans were made for the marking of the trail, and later on the development and improvement of the new way. A. E. Nissen, of Chicago, delivered the principal address in which he urged that the road be speedily carried out. He said that the Cincinnati-Fort Wayne-Kalamazoo road might well receive a share of the four million dollars to be spent on state roads within the next five years and that the most necessary thing to do is to see that the road is recognized as soon as possible.

The point of most interest which arose in the meeting was the contest for the route between Wolscottville and South Milford. Both towns want on the route of the O. I. M. way. The matter, it was decided, will be left to the State Highway commission.

Those in Attendance.

Among those in attendance at the dinner at the Commercial club Monday in the interest of the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan way were A. E. Nissen, of Chicago; George W. Choler, of Lagrange; Carl Willard, of Lagrange; A. L. Randall, of this city; James A. Hendricks, of Monroe; A. L. Longshore, Monroe; C. A. Bathrick, Battle Creek, Mich.; C. J. Munton, Kendallville; J. H. Mill, Richmond; O. B. Towne, Kendallville; M. E. Noble, Indianapolis; Carl Willard, Lagrange; J. V. Taylor, Winchester; B. Niblick, Decatur; A. G. Lipton, Hartford City; C. R. Greer, Hamilton, O.; E. C. Miller, of this city; J. Herman Buxter, of this city.

The arrangement committee consisted of E. W. Fickett, A. L. Randall, E. C. Miller, Charles Biederwolf and J. Herman Buxter.

SUFFRAGE IS MAKING GAIN

House Likely to Appoint Special Committee to Deal With It.

SENATE ALREADY HAS SUCH A BODY

Real Suffragists Take Occasion to Repudiate Picketers.

Washington, Sept. 24.—"Shall a special house committee on women suffrage be appointed?" This question was put today for determination in the form of a report presented by the rules committee recommending the creation of such a committee with prospect of favorable action. The senate has a similar committee.

Support of the committee's recommendation is urged in a letter received today by house members from Mrs. Maud Wood Park, congressional chairman of the National Woman Suffrage association.

"We believe that fair-minded men whatever their views on the general question of woman suffrage," wrote Mrs. Park, "will agree that a principle of such denial of national importance should be considered by a committee which has time for a thorough investigation of the subject. We consider it a matter of justice that the women of this nation who are one-half its people and share the country's burdens equally with the men, should be given this means of presenting their cause to congress. We know, also, that the nine million women voters of this country in nineteen of our states expect this recognition of women's political interests."

The letter concludes with the statement that the association of which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt is president "has no connection with the small group of women, in a different organization, who have adopted the tactics of 'picketing the white house' and adds that the association has repeatedly declared its disapproval of such tactics."

Summary of the Day's War News

Heavy cannonading was again in progress last night on the Flanders battlefield northeast of Ypres, but the infantry had a relief from the recent hard fighting. The last German reaction was not encouraging enough, apparently, to warrant a speedy repetition as Field Marshal Haig in his dispatches last night reported that when the Germans assaulted the British lines northeast of Langemark yesterday they not only were repulsed but lost ground in a British counter drive.

Signs of possibly important activity impending are appearing in other sections of the British front, notably in the Arras region near the Scarpe, and in the vicinity of Lens, which city is still being closely pressed by the Canadians. Considerable artillery activity is announced from these sectors.

The artillery on both sides is notably busy on the French front in the Verdun region. Last night's activity reached the stage of intense violence north of the fortresses in Fosses and Chimes wood region, Paris reports.

Although suffering a heavy reverse in the recent German operations in the Jacobstadt region, the Russians on the Riga-Dvinsk front are showing recuperative power and today a sub-

CHANGES SEATS IN AIRPLANE IN A DIZZY FLIGHT

Rantoul, Ill., Sept. 24.—Officers at the army aviation school here declared today that the feat of Maj. Maxwell Kirby, who changed seats in an airplane at an elevation of more than 1,000 feet, was the first of its kind ever accomplished in the United States. Major Kirby arrived Saturday from Dayton, O., where he was in charge of an aviation school. He made his initial flight here yesterday, ascending alone in the rear seat and using a stick control. When the airplane was a quarter of a mile in the air and running at the rate of a mile a minute the major climbed to the front seat and took wheel control of the machine, making the descent without mishap.

STATE DEPARTMENT STILL HAS IN HAND MUCH WARM STUFF

Disclosures as Sensational as Any Yet Made of Prussian Diplomacy's Intrigues Are in Reserve.

HAS LIST OF THOSE TAKING KAISER CASH

Washington, Sept. 24.—While there is no indication of what will be the state department's next disclosure of German intrigue in America or elsewhere, it is known that disclosures as sensational as any yet published are being held in reserve and may be made at any time.

One of the things the state department has is a list of persons who received German money in the passport frauds, the munitions plots and practically all the other activities of German intrigue here which took place between the beginning of the war in August, 1914, and the entry of the United States into the conflict.

This list is said to contain scores of names and the amounts of money represented run very high.

From time to time the department also probably will make public certain evidence to dispose of the denials of those who have been involved in the disclosures already made.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO SLAYING WIDOW

Gaston Means Arraigned in Preliminary for the Death of Mrs. King.

Concord, N. C., Sept. 24.—Gaston E. Means, business agent and co-defendant of Mrs. Maude A. King, the wealthy widow, whose death has resulted in a charge of murder being brought against him, pleaded not guilty at a preliminary hearing begun here today.

Means, backed by an array of counsel, exercised his legal privilege of declining to be examined before Magistrate Palmer, and the hearing was conducted by Magistrate Fitts.

Attorneys representing the state of New York and Cook county, Ill., were present.

Dr. William Burmeister, chief coroner's physician, of Chicago, testified that in his opinion it would have been impossible for Mrs. King to have held the pistol which inflicted her death wound in the woods near here on August 23. Means, at the coroner's inquest, testified that Mrs. King accidentally shot herself and that he was several yards away. Dr. Burmeister testified that there were no powder marks around the wound to support the theory that Mrs. King's own hand held the revolver.

Lawyers and criminal experts from three states are present in the hearing, the object of which is to bind Means over to await the action of a grand jury.

GETTING UNDER THICK HIDE OF THE PRUSSAINS

London, Sept. 24.—In commenting on the latest Washington disclosures concerning the activities of Count von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States the Koelnische Volkszeitung, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters Ltd., says:

"This affair has a very disagreeable character and it is highly regrettable. The American government, God knows how, was able to get hold apparently of the whole collection of German diplomatic documents which it is now exploiting against us and Sweden. What the state department remarks about the relation between von Bernstorff's policy and the U-boat war can be recognized as a misleading invention by every one who knows the history preceding the U-boat campaign."

SEVENTEEN LEAVE FOR CAMP TAYLOR

Part of Noble County's Second Contingent Left Saturday Morning.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Ablion, Ind., Sept. 24.—Seventeen of the 40 per cent. of Noble county's second contingent of the United States army left Ablion Saturday morning for Camp Taylor. Many relatives and friends were at the station to wish them God speed and strict adherence to duty. The train pulled out amid cheers and tears for the parting ones and the last acclam of au revoir.

BOWSER FIRE FIGHTERS GIVE $34 TO RED CROSS

Women Will Use Waste to Make Clothing for Children.

The work on the promised comfort pillows continues to progress with a rapidity very pleasing to those in charge at the Red Cross. Snipping parties have been conducted in a number of different homes and the work has been turned over to the ladies. Many who have not been able to come to the headquarters have done their bit by donating certain sums of money each week to aid in the cause. Others have donated flowers and the money received from their sale is used to buy material to be used in the comfort pillows. The Bowser Volunteer Fire department made a large donation of $34.49 to be used for new material.

The Red Cross intends to use much of their time and waste material in the future in making garments for refugees children in France. The pieces left from the construction of larger garments are to be used in this work. Sunday a number of local women spoke in the interests of the Red Cross at twelve different churches, and next Sunday they plan to speak at eight others. Those who spoke Sunday were Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Allen Hamilton, Mrs. Clarence Schoo, Mrs. Mary Edson, Mrs. Flagle, Mrs. Frank Bond, Mrs. H. O. Bruggeman, Mrs. William Creighton, Misses Hallie Johns, LeVon Sperry, Margaret Smith and Mrs. Robert Harding.

WEDNESDAY SECOND BIG SUBURBAN TRADE DAY

One Hundred Firms Now
Prepare to Extend Welcome to Visitors.

Elsewhere in today's Sentinel appears the complete revised list of members of the Fort Wayne Suburban Day Trade association, which is preparing to extend the "glad hand" to visitors from the nearby cities and towns, as well as the farming district, this week Wednesday, the second of the big trade days. Out-of-town people will watch with interest each week the Fort Wayne newspapers for the announcements of "Suburban Day Specials," which are now becoming the talk of the entire surrounding territory.

As on the first Suburban day, the city market place, Barr street, between Berry and Washington, is placed at the free disposal of visitors for the parking of their automobiles. This privilege is possible only on Suburban day—every Wednesday. As the need grows, larger areas for parking will be provided.

All of the motor bus lines operating in and out of Fort Wayne are now carrying large placards reading: "Every Wednesday is Suburban Trade Day in Fort Wayne. Watch the newspapers for Suburban Day Specials." The campaign of publicity will now carry the details of the Fort Wayne plan into scores of outside cities and towns.

Fort Wayne people benefit personally from the Suburban day plans through the arrangement that everyone—either from outside or a resident—is privileged to take advantage of the specials offered on Wednesdays. It is again pointed out to visitors that Fort Wayne time is one hour "faster" than standard time, and that the stores close at 6 o'clock Fort Wayne time, for the present, which is 5 o'clock, standard time. Therefore, "Watch your time!"

COMPERS IS UPHOLD.

International Moulders' Union Has Approved His War Policies.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The convention of the International Moulders' Union of North America voiced approval of the war policies of Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and adopted the adverse report of the committee on resolutions on the resolution of censure proposed by the Reading, Pa., local. The committee's report set forth no evidence had been presented by the Reading, Pa., delegation to support the charges made in the resolution that President Compers had misrepresented labor organizations which had affiliated themselves with the workmen's council and people's council movements, or "he had exceeded his authority by pledging support of the labor movement to policies relative to strikes during the war," or he had used his influence to prevent the sending of delegates from the American Federation of Labor to the Stockholm conference, or that "his reactionary policies created discord within the ranks of organized labor."

WHO WILL WIN THE SERIES?

New York, Sept. 24.—With the baseball season reaching the stage where it is only a case of "playing out the schedule" the talk has now turned to the question, "who will win the world's series?"

Although the New York fans are disappointed because Chicago won the toss for the games and will stage contests on a Saturday, a Sunday and a holiday, a closer perusal of the records shows that it is a lucky omen as far as the Giants are concerned.

The Giants have figured in four world's series previous to the one they will combat in this year. Three times they have been beaten. The only one in which McGraw led his men to the stellar honors in the baseball world was in 1905, when the Giants played the first game of the series away from home—in Philadelphia against the Athletics. In 1911 they again met the Athletics. The first game was played on the Polo grounds. The Giants lost the series. The next year they played the Red Sox. The Giants won the toss. Again the first game was played in New York. Again the Giants lost. In 1913 it was the same. The Giants met the Athletics. The first game came off in New York. Connie Mack won.

Local fans are pointing to the fact that McGraw's men have always played a great game away from home—in fact, much better game than they do on their own ballpark. But the local fans seem to forget that the White Sox are also a good road team. And the White Sox will have one advantage that the Giants will not have. They have been playing on the Polo grounds every year since the Yankees took to playing their home games on that field. They have played eleven games annually with the Yankees. The grounds will not be strange to them. On the other hand, McGraw's men will go into the world's conflict playing on a field they have never played on before. Whatever advantage may accrue from this instance will help the White Sox.

The teams in this big conflict will be led by men with two different temperaments. McGraw, noted for his driving power, is a past master in the art of getting every ounce out of a player. Like a jockey, he spurs them on with whip and spur. Sarcasm, he eggs on his players and goads them to do almost the impossible. He will stand for an striking. A player must make good or McGraw will relegate him to the bench or to a minor league outfit. He is a powerful leader, has brought five pennants to New York and competed in four world's series. This will be his fifth.

Herzog is Giant Hope.

Rowland is the other extreme. He handles his men with "kid gloves." None of the dynamic force of McGraw is visible in this leader, who has been called a "busher" by his critics. With gentle, even demenor he urges his men on. Unlike McGraw, he does not call his men down when they make mistakes. He even smiles at them, pats them on the back and knows that they are trying their best. And in this handling of his men he is ably assisted by "Kid" Gleason. And the latter is of the old Baltimore school from which McGraw graduated.

The one bright ray of hope among the Giant rooters is that word from Maryland says Charlie Herzog, captain of the National league winners, will "be there" when the big series starts. Herzog, who was suspended for failing to report, has declared he will play, "doctors or no doctors." It was Herzog's "illness, due to a fall when the Giants played in Philadelphia, that caused him to desert" the team and be disciplined.

FOR BENSON CUP.

Following scores were made at the Country club Saturday in the first rounds play for the Benson trophy:

Smock 2-1. Those defaulting were T. L. Staples to A. S. Bond, J. Morris to J. C. Hoffman, and W. L. Wilt to F. S. Hunting.

The pairings for the second rounds, to be played next Saturday, will be: Ed Bond-W. J. Vesey, Jr., A. S. Bond-J. C. Hoffman, H. W. Lang-E. G. Hoffman, and A. F. Hall-F. S. Hunting.

KULTUR AND CULTURES.

The state department at Washington makes public that after America had exercised its good offices as a friendly neutral in taking over the German legation in Bucharest following the entrance of Rumania into the war last year Germany testified its appreciation by making the legation buildings storehouses for high explosives and germs of deadly diseases. This revelation was robbed of some degree of its shock by the repeated charges and accusations during previous months that the Prussians had been distributing the means of infections over Rumania. Stories that packages of candy poisoned with the germs of terrible diseases had been scattered over the land to fall into the hands of children and tales of other humane devices to spread Prussian kultur where it would do the most good in whatever ways might befall have been numerous enough and not altogether without authentication by evidence.

We can overlook the duplicity, the dishonesty, the treachery, the total want of moral considerations and restraints in the Prussian abuse of American friendship and confidence. Exposure along this line has been such as to disarm surprise at any developments that may now and hereafter be made. The thing to which civilized mankind's attention must be drawn is the proof absolute that Prussianism in the twentieth century has reverted to barbarism and made it many fold more deadly and terrible by a sublimated and scientific savagery that ancient barbarism never knew. The wanton spreading of pestilence among non-combatants is an expedient of war that has been left for Prussian kultur to devise and refine.

The possibilities of this method of warfare are almost limitless. Cholera, typhus, tuberculosis and other plagues almost without number can be launched upon the populations of enemy lands to any extent that savage foes may choose to go. Microbe culture can be carried on almost as easily and rapidly as mushroom culture and after a fashion in much the same way. Prussian kultur and cultures seem to have been going with fine concord hand in hand.

STAND BY THE BOYS.

The big drive to be inaugurated tomorrow throughout Indiana to give the people of the state a more thorough awakening to the war their country is in is no mere abstraction of necessity. Loyal as Indiana has been both in spirit and service, we have great need in this state to be brought up standing to the causes and the aims of this war and our duties in it. The people of America must understand that while we are fighting to make the world safe for democracy, we are not a bit the less fighting to make the world safe for America. Our own national future, with everything that American democracy stands for and can imply, is at stake upon the outcome of this prodigious conflict. We are not fighting for a bare victory at arms. If that were true, we would not be fighting at all. We still would be standing aloof, awaiting the day when we might step in and help the old world cease its fearful strife and aid it to heal its wounds.

We came into this war when both national honor and national security sternly forbade that we should longer keep out of it. The solemn truth of that must be put into the understanding of all of us. We must now fight the best that is in us to make sure that everything that has made this nation blessed shall become perpetually secure. We must all of us get the solemn truth of that into our heads and the spirit for it into our hearts.

The big drive of this week is purposed to put Indiana completely and wholeheartedly into the service of the nation in the war. Every man and woman in the state can aid directly and greatly by personal interest in the patriotic movement of this week. The young men are going by thousands into the war. Indiana has been no slacker in giving of her flowering manhood to the cause of the nation. Indiana must be no slacker in giving these young men of the armies of liberty every ounce of support that is in her to give. If the people at home fail the soldiers who go abroad the sacrifices made in the field will be so much wanton waste. Let all stand up for the country and its men in the battle.

CONCERNING LA FOLLETTE.

There will be more or less lifting of patriotic voice in the land demanding that one Robert Marion La Follette, sitting in one of Wisconsin's seats in the senate of the United States, be curbed.

We have a notion that this would be a mistake.

To begin with, it would greatly minister to the conceit and excessively appear to confirm the delusion that together obsess the Wisconsin one that he is the sole object of an aggressive pursuit by a truculent wealth.

It furthermore would exercise a restraint at the wrong place of his misguided career and in particular at the wrong point of his insane onset against the government and the nation in this war.

What should be vouchsafed the Wisconsin senator is plenty of rope. Let him go on inspired to farther lengths of his madness by each fresh access of his fury.

It is conceivable that after a time he may get himself worked up to a point where not even the immunities that attend a senator of the United States will have effectual grace to save him.

Let it be, therefore, that Robert Marion La Follette shall have his say right on to the finish—or at least to such nearness of a finish as it can in prudence be permitted him to go. Many a man has spun the hemp for his own halter.

HELP SOLDIERS' LIBRARY FUND.

We know of nothing that has been proposed for the comfort and diversion of the men of the American armies which can exceed in value the project to raise a million dollars to keep the soldiers supplied with books. The government will look well to the proper feeding and the regulation clothing of the men. Such material comforts as are considered essential to maintenance of the strength and morale of fighting forces the government will supply abundantly. There will be no want of these.

However, there are some things the government will not do and cannot perhaps reasonably be expected to do. One of these things is to establish and maintain libraries. So it is put up to the people of the country to provide the soldiers with books if they are to have them at all. It is a fine purpose that underlies this soldiers' library movement. It will help the boys "over there" to while away a tedious hour and will do them a deal of permanent good besides.

An average of a penny apiece for the total population of the country will produce the million dollars sought in the campaign. The raising of that sum ought to be no more than a dawn to sundown task and we doubt that it will be necessary to continue the effort much beyond that. It is a movement that should enlist the interest of everybody for it means the provision for a need that American soldiers will feel acutely if it be not supplied.

There very well can be some patience with the ultra-pacifists, who go a step too far with their pacifism and tread dangerously into the twilight zone between unwitting folly and treason, and their fellows who merely make a professed pacifism a cloak in which studied disloyalty may the more safely work to its ends. A few weeks or months at the most will bring America's participation in the war to a new stage and when the blood sacrifice of brave men is answered by the jeering of the unwise and misled, the unpatriotic and disloyal, the great body of the people will make recreation of that sort unpopular and unprofitable enough. But for those who are doing the works of treason and enmity there should be no occasion or disposition to postpone to the judgment of events. Their time is fully come whenever and wherever they can be found.

Some more Liberty Loan bonds are coming. They will be just like the last Liberty Loan bonds, only they will be better. Their tenure will be longer and their interest higher and the government needs the money. There are plenty of reasons for you.

There has been a great blunder of history for nigh two thousand years. The real Prince of Peace is William Hohenzollern. If you don't believe it, commune with his letter to the pope.

The mayor says that if the city market cannot be maintained as a service to the city, it then should be abolished. The which raises the question—whose move is it? Likewise, when?

THE RED CROSS IN FORT WAYNE.
(This beautiful bit of verse libre was written for the T. C. by a Fort Wayne woman who is very much interested in Red Cross work.)

A long, dim room,
Giving upon a sun-parched street,
And many women,
Who stretch, and fold, and knit,
Endlessly.

The staccato clatter
Of sewing machines,
Heard above the toneless murmur
Of voices.

And sometimes a violent gong
Struck for silence.

Above, were my eyes not holden,
I should see
A mist of prayer
Shot through
With the sparkle of tears.

Ah, God!
Receive those prayers and tears,
And render them back
Manna-like,
Upon some field
Of hellish agony.

Christianity and the War

(This is the text of a paper on the subject, "Christianity and the War," read before the Fort Wayne Ministerial association by Rev. O. E. Tomes, pastor of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ.)

I say unto you, Love your enemies, pray for them that persecute you.—Mat. 5:44.

So then let us follow after things which make for peace.—Rom. 14:19.

Be at peace among yourselves.—Thess. 5:13.

Only let your conversation be as it becometh the Gospel of Christ.—Phil. 1:27.

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it.—Mat. 24:35.

There are some who insist that war is the normal condition of human life. Great blessings, it is claimed, will flow from the struggle, in a new birth of patriotism, heroism, ethics and religion; and that there is no reason to regret that nine-tenths of the world is at war.

The war toll to the present time is not less than seven millions. The unnecessary killing of that vast number in a period of three years is certainly a calamity, whatever the cause. How many millions have been blinded, crippled, maimed for life in body or mind, no one can tell, but certainly it means the adding of other millions to the dead. John H. Mott, when he was in Washington that in a certain large sector of the English army there were more men unfit for duty because of the ravages of venereal diseases than from the guns of the enemy. This is true to a greater or less extent in every army that has mobilized. This means that not only the present but future generations are to bear in their bodies the marks of lust and greed, turned loose to prey upon, not the old and worn-out, but the flower of the world's young manhood.

It seems like a descent to turn from the consideration of life and health to take into account the money and property involved in the war. It is estimated that Germany has mortgaged one-fourth of her total wealth. This means that in addition to what it has cost in personal sacrifice, that every German has mortgaged one-fourth of the value of his personal belongings and property to the nation's war debt. The allied situation is not so bad as this, but it is bad enough. Debts are being assumed by our own nation, even before we get into the great war, even before the shoulders of our children's children to pay. This is all apart from the actual destruction of property which in no way can ever be reproduced. Neither does it take into account the withdrawal of so many millions from the productive pursuits of peace times.

Turning from the destruction of life and property to a thing less tangible but none the less important, let us look a moment at the shattering of ideals. An atmosphere of hatred, bitterness and unreasoning passion is fast being created. We do not sense this to any great extent as yet in our own land, but we are moving in that direction, rather than the opposite, and that as a people we are capable of holding such feelings against an enemy is proven by civil war experiences. When the announcements begin to come over of the killed, wounded and "missing," "somewhere in France," or our own boys who the great God can keep us from knowing of the enemy.

Seven years ago I listened to a series of lectures by perhaps the greatest of all modern scholars in the field of the New Testament canon, Casper Rene Gregory, professor of Theology at Leipzig university. White-haired, kindly in attitude and mien, it seems impossible to associate him with war and bloodshed. But at the age of sixty-eight he entered the German army as a private. He was killed in trench fighting in April of this year. Before entering the army he prepared his epitaph, omitting the date.

"Casper Rene Gregory, professor of Leipzig university, fell in battle for the German cause, April 9, 1917. His family must not wear mourning or lament his loss, but should be happy that he is resting with God. Visits of condolence ought to be omitted. He extends a hearty farewell and a hopeful 'auf wiedersehen' to all his friends and acquaintances. In the trenches on the other side were some of the professor's old students bent on exterminating the Hun army whom was the genial old professor himself. Men like Gregory, Harnack, Eucken, Wundt and others of similar type seem to have lost all moral and spiritual poise as regards their national enemies. They signed the 'Statement of the Intellectuals,' issued early in the war to justify Germany's position toward neutrals as well as enemies. Something is in the matter with the world—this world in which Christians live—to kill and get ready to kill is the major business of nine-tenths of the human family at the present hour.

Someone has said that this world is ruled by ideas. This is certainly true. Back of this war is a system of ideas that gave birth to it. If this is to be the last great war then this system of ideas must be replaced by another which makes for peace.

In Germany the intellectual leadership has been overwhelmingly atheistic. It is possible for an individual to be intellectual and religious at the same time. Plato and Kant both maintained a reverent religious attitude. Both were humble. Kant was thought of as a philosopher, never once thought of deifying God. Rather he sought to increase man's faith in the great ethical and religious truths—God, Freedom and Immortality. But when with intellectual power there goes intellectual pride the leadership can no longer be trusted.

There are two names that stand out in the thought life of Germany and the world, among many others—Schopenhauer—author of 'The Will to Live,' and Strauss, author of 'The Life of Christ.' But for the influence of these two, it seems to me there would have been no Nietzsche and no Von Treitschke, no Prussian militarism, and perhaps no world war.

Schopenhauer in his 'Will to Live,' makes God a sort of cosmic force which keeps up life on the planet. Perhaps for us the word 'impulse' would fit the idea better than the word 'will.' His philosophy has permeated modern thought throughout the world. Thomas Hardy, the novelist, popularized it in England and America. The millions who have read the writings of Herbert Spencer in this country got it in a casual and exceedingly popular form. Let us hope that it has been sunk to the bottom of the sea, so far as this country is concerned, and that in the land to which it is native, it is even now being shot to pieces or given the sea.

Strauss struck at the roots of historical Christianity. And once a man is convinced that the Gospel records of the life of our Lord do not represent any concrete reality his religion is effectively dynamited and destroyed. Voltaire's theory was that Matthew, Mark, Luke, John and Paul were either 'knaves or fools.' Strauss held that they were simply imaginative orientals, who saw visions and wrote them down as facts. He held up 'The Christ of Faith' as being sufficient. But when one loses the historical Christ, the Christ of Faith ceases to disappear.

Strauss began his career as a devout champion of faith. Gradually he had no sympathy for or belief in Christianity. His 'Life of Christ' has had a tremendous influence upon German and French thought, and to a less extent upon English and American. A recent writer in Pearson tells us that Count von Bernstorff, of diplomatic notoriety, claimed to have received his religious inspiration and impulse from reading the works of Strauss.

Two other names, coming more recently and touching directly the present generation, must be mentioned—Nietzsche and Von Treitschke. I cannot in this paper enter into any comprehensive discussion of the philosophy of these two men. Both of them drew their ideas from Schopenhauer and Strauss. The popularized and nationalized them. For one seeking to know the philosophical foundation of this war a study of the teaching of these two men is necessary, for their thought forms the upper foundation stones upon which was built the Prussian militarism.

Nietzsche is the great apostle of pessimism. In 'Zarathustra,' one of his books, there rings the phrase: 'God is dead. God is dead.' This is the assumption of all of his writings. His attitude toward Christianity can be gained from this quotation: 'The Christian church is to me the greatest of all imaginative corruptions; it has the will to the ultimate corruption that is possible. The Christian church has left nothing untouched by its depravity; it has made a worthlessness out of every value, a lie out of every truth, a baseness out of every straightforwardness.'

You say that certainly this is the ravings of a mad man. It is true that his last publication was given out after he went insane, but this was the consistent attitude of his whole life and teaching toward Christianity. His philosophy was that of the superman. The whole universe is striving to produce the superman or a few supermen, the law of whose being is to make themselves stronger at the expense of the weaker. Morals do not exist for the superman. He says that there is no use in giving up God and retaining the prison house of an ethical system which is the result of such a belief. His book, 'The Will to Power,' is undoubtedly inspired by Schopenhauer's 'The Will to Live,' although he would not admit it. His egotism is shown in the fact that he said that he was too proud to make friends because there were none alive of the same rank as he. He makes the state simply nature's round about way of producing a few great individuals. You see where the Kaiser gets his revelation. So far as the weak needing protection from the strong, it is rather the opposite, the strong need protection from the weak—i. e.—against the unified jealousy of the weak, made powerful only by numbers. Ethical codes and religions, especially Christianity, are nothing more than schemes of the weak to protect themselves against the great, by applying these false standards to all. All the old rules of morality must give way. The Übermensch is beyond good and evil. Morality exists for the mediocre. He looks forward to a society, recruited upon blood, a result of the survival of the fittest, resting upon a slave system, kept pure by eugenic methods.

The significance of all this is in the fact that Nietzsche works are the most popular of any in Germany, and his influence is not unfelt in England, France and America. In the gymnasiums, in the trenches and throughout the student class, which always form the leadership of a nation, his philosophy has been accepted as a religion.

Nietzsche was the great philosopher, Von Treitschke the great teacher. He made practical the philosophy of Schopenhauer, Strauss, Hegel, Haeckel and Nietzsche. He formed it into a religion in which the state was worshiped. 'Deutschland über alles,' expresses it. A practical statement of his position may be summed up in the motto of Robin Hood: 'They shall take who have the power and they shall keep who can.' He had no use for Americans. He said: 'There can be no question at all but that human civilization suffers every time a German is turned into a Yankee.'

This philosophy in various disguises, made practical in many forms, has permeated and predominated the life of Germany for two or three decades. It accounts, as I see it, not only for the beginning of the war, when neutrality treaties were considered as 'scraps of paper,' but for the German justification for the horrible and unthinkable atrocities which have accompanied its prosecution.

This is a war, not of armies, nor of nations, but of ideas. Give victory to the German arms and you open the world for the predominance of German thought. It would retard the progress of the simple gospel of Jesus Christ for centuries and give an extended lease on life to autocracy at the expense of democracy. We abhor war; but all wars have not been futile. When Charles Martel turned the Saracens back east at the battle of Tours, in 732, he saved European civilization from Mohammedan predominance. To defeat Germany in the present war means to save the world not only from militarism, but from materialism as well—unless in the conduct of it we are taken captive by the same philosophy which has given birth to the struggle. In view of all this it seems to me that there is only one thing that we can conscientiously do and that is to fight.

But we are fighting. What shall be our attitude in the fight? Can we fight as Christians? Well, it may be difficult, but at least we can conscientiously try. We must not only stand by our country, but by our Master. We must insist from the beginning that nothing shall be done in America or 'somewhere in France' out of harmony with His will. We must turn the people's gaze to God's purpose for the race as against narrow nationalism. We must be careful not to exalt democracy to the place of a religion and make patriotism and devotion to God as wholly synonymous. We must set our faces as a flint against greed and hate, and demand that no eye be taken for an eye and no tooth for a tooth. We must remember that God has made no provision for letting down the moral law on account of the exigencies of war. Military necessity must not take the place of right. We must be careful that America uses no severer force than is necessary to meet the high aims to which President Wilson has given utterance, knowing that to go further is to infringe upon the prerogative of God himself. 'Vengeance belongs unto me: I will recompense,' saith the Lord. As a father, must not lay aside his fatherhood when he punishes his son, so must we not lay aside our brotherhood when called to fight our fellow men. The father does not punish his son with gloom or hate, but with a breaking heart.

We must guard the moral manhood of the nation both at home and at the front. Every moral and religious opportunity should not only not suffer, but should be mightily strengthened in these times so pregnant with peril and possibly good. We must hearten the boys at the front and comfort the grief-stricken at home. We should use the opportunity which the presence of death gives to invite men to accept eternal life.

We must pray. Perhaps at no place in the Christian experience has the problem of the war pressed more heavily.

A Chicago minister recently suggested that we have a day of prayer for Germany. I can imagine the flippant reply of the thoughtless to that suggestion. 'Believe me, I'd like to pray for the Kaiser; where'd I consign him would be a plenty.' But that is not the spirit of the Christian. Jesus said that we should pray for our enemies.

We remember that today in Germany, which is largely a Protestant country, prayers are ascending in the churches for the destruction of the enemies of the fatherland, and that in England, which is largely a Protestant country, prayers are going up for precisely the opposite purpose. In Austria, which is predominantly a Catholic country, they are praying that Italy, France and Belgium, largely Catholic, may be destroyed. In the latter countries they are asking the same God to destroy Austria. Really, I don't think America has begun to pray much about the war. But if we are Christians we will pray. What of our prayers?

It seems to me that nothing better can be said than was said by the editor of the Watchman-Examiner, a Baptist publication in New York, of recent date: 'There must be much confession in our prayer in these war days, for humiliation is a part of prayer. All the warring nations, our own included, have many sins upon which the judgment of God must rest. Let us not as a nation be pharisaical in spirit. Let us confess our sins and not the sins of others. When we go to God in prayer let us remember our personal sins, which are many and grievous, and our domestic and social sins, which in many quarters threaten the sanctity of the home. Let us remember also our commercial sins, our political sins and our national sins, and there are many and grievous also. Many of our great fortunes have been built up upon injustice and tyranny. Many of our political leaders have sought the halls of legislation with a view to the hauls of spoil, and throughout the nation there is a mighty battle being waged between Jehovah, the true God, and Moloch, Mammon, Baal and Babel. Let us confess and forsake our sins for we are far from being a perfect people.'

In our war-time prayer there is much room for thanksgiving. An Old Testament writer said: 'I will bless the Lord at all times.' And a New Testament writer said: 'In everything give thanks.'

Let us thank God for our years of prosperity and peace. The present generation knows but little of the terrors and sacrifices of war. Let us thank God for the unity of our nation. The ends of the earth have poured in upon us and in these days we are proving that America is a great melting pot. The war into which we have entered will bring to the surface the fittest and jettison of our national life and enable us to eradicate, in a wholesome way, our few inharmonious elements; as witness the experience with the I. W. W.

We may well thank God for our hatred of war. We have turned to it only as a terrible necessity. Let us thank God for the millions of young men who while hating war are willing to go to war for their country's sake.

If we are justified at all for being at war then we have a perfect right to pray God's blessings upon those who are fighting our battles on land and sea. Let us pray that Christian faith shall not fail our Christian hope grow dim as the boys go down at sea or 'over the top.'

In these war days there must be much of submission in our prayers. Recall that night at Gethsemane when Jesus said: 'O my Father, if possible, let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt.' There are many bitter cups being drunk the world around today. There are cups being mixed this very hour for the American people. May God give us courage to drink them. If it is not His will that they pass from us.

THEN WEAR STRIPES.

Should we not agree with Senator Johnson that the war profiteers ought to pay a big part of their gains in taxes, but we think that the food speculators ought to pay over all of them, and all the additional coin they can scrape up as fines for past speculation.

Shortage of European cotton crops has revived the cultivation of the stinging nettle for textile purposes. This weed, usually regarded as somewhat of a nuisance, is also used as food for man and beast.

CHARMING IN THIS NEW COSTUME OF BROWN VELVET AND BEAVER

Already women's minds turn longingly toward velvets and furs, for the frosty days bring home to most of them the fact that already their pretty summer clothes are out of season, and warm ones are needed. The suit shown is an unusually smart one of brown velvet trimmed with beaver fur, and for afternoon wear nothing could be more attractive. Brown is a splendid color for cold weather, anyhow, and one that is fortunately becoming to many types of women.—Copyright Underwood & Underwood.

TO CONDUCT THRIFT CAMPAIGN.

Woman's Club League Plans New Way of Getting and Doing.

A novel plan for obtaining financial support for their work has been begun by the Philanthropic department of the Women's Club league. New sanitary bags will be distributed in every home in the city. Housewives will be asked to fill these bags with certain kinds of waste, a list of which is printed on the bags. The following week the bags will be collected.

This plan makes it possible not only to get rid of all accumulated rubbish, but also to further the good work done by the Philanthropic department of the league, for every pound will be sold by them in one large lot and the proceeds used to the best advantage in their work.

In a short time announcement of the complete plan of campaign will be made, also a list of all the things you can save in order to help the cause. This campaign does not involve a penny of expense to any individual. Only the waste materials usually burned or thrown out will be asked for. These bags will be collected by the league, and it is hoped that a large amount will be realized.

Beginners' dancing class forms Wednesday, 8 p. m. Trier's Minuet.

AT THE MAJESTIC

THE WHY OF "GENESIS."

In Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen" George Gaul Does a Bit of Art.

Genesis, the negro servant in Booth Tarkington's play, "Seventeen," which will be seen at the Majestic theater Wednesday and Thursday evening, presented by The Stuart Walker company under the personal direction of One E. Talbot, is supposed to have derived his name from the fact that he has the habit of being the first to eat, this being the beginning of all things with Genesis. The fact that Mr. Walker chose Mr. Gaul for the creation of the part, when the latter is seldom thought of outside of the role of a polished gentleman without color is a tribute to Mr. Gaul's ability for it is not every actor who can have a negro part wished on him and get away with it as splendidly as Mr. Gaul does. His characterization is beyond cavil. His facial expression and dialect a source of constant amusement.

An electrically heated comb is an instrument for drying one's hair.

body it carries the silk through, wrapped around it, and protects the wound from being poisoned.

Women in England whom I told about this new armour at once started cutting up their silk wedding dresses and other silk garments to make these shirts for the English soldiers.

An interesting experiment is to hang a dozen silk handkerchiefs along a clothes line, three feet apart, suspended by a very thin thread, tied to the center so that the four sides will hang loosely, then fire a bullet from a pistol so that the shot will strike one after the other of the handkerchiefs.

The shot will break the suspending thread and carry each handkerchief along until it has gathered all in a bunch, when the force of the bullet will be expended and it will drop to the ground.

Soldiers discontinued wearing steel armour because a bullet would go through it.

Fireless Cooker Saves Fuel Cost

By RIDDY BYE.

The fireless cooker has a great vogue several years ago as a labor saver. Now the high price of fuel brings the fireless cooker to the front as a fuel saver.

The commercial cookers have been perfected to the point of baking and roasting, but for all boiling and stewing processes, including the cooking of meats, vegetables, fruits, cereals and even custards, a fireless cooker of entirely satisfactory character can be made at home.

First there must be a box or other container to hold some non-conductor of heat. It must be fitted with a good cover.

Second, there must be some insulating lining material.

Third, there must be a covered kettle or bucket to hold the food.

A trunk, an icebox, a galvanized can and a wooden candy bucket are among the articles which have been used successfully in the construction of a fireless cooker.

Among non-conductors of heat which have been used to line the box are hay, straw, sawdust, ground cork, shavings, cotton batting, crumpled paper, mineral wool and asbestos.

The two materials last named have the advantage of being non-inflammable.

There should be at least three inches of packing between the inner bucket or kettle and the outer box. It is a good plan to cover the inner bucket with asbestos paper.

After the inner bucket has been set in the box and surrounded by the packing, a cushion filled with insulating material should be placed upon it.

Turkish Pilau.

The ingredients are: One-half cupful rice, 2 tablespoonfuls green pepper or onion, 1 cupful tomatoes, 1 tablespoonful butter, 1 ½ teaspoonful sugar, 1 ½ cupful stock or water, 1 teaspoonful salt.

Wash the rice. If the pepper is used discard the seeds. If fresh tomatoes are used, remove the skins and cut the tomatoes in pieces before measuring them. Place all the ingredients together in the food container, bring the mixture to the boiling point and transfer the kettle to the fireless cooker. Allow it to remain in the cooker one hour. Stir the pilau lightly with a fork before serving it.

Italian Macaroni.

The ingredients are: One cupful macaroni, broken in one-inch pieces; 2 cupfuls stewed tomatoes strained, 1 cupful stock or water, 1 medium-sized onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 teaspoonfuls sugar, pepper, 1 cupful cheese, grated or shaved.

Soak the macaroni in cold water for one hour drain it and place it in the food container. Add the other ingredients except the cheese bring the mixture to the boiling point and set it in the cooker 2 hours. Remove the onion and the bay leaf, and add the cheese. Allow the kettle to remain in the cooker until the cheese is melted.

Steamed Corn Bread.

The ingredients are: Two cupfuls sour milk, ½ cupful molasses, 2 eggs, 2 cupfuls cornmeal, 1 ½ cupfuls white flour, 1 teaspoonful soda, 1 teaspoonful baking powder, ½ teaspoonful salt, ¼ cupful lard or drippings.

The Apparel Sections Are Filled to Overflowing With Women's Smartest Clothes!

And when you buy a Coat, a Suit a Dress here, you are sure that

- The Styles are Right.
- The Qualities are guaranteed
- You are not paying more than the garments are worth

We are firmly Convinced that such a choice, wide selection of up-to-the-minute fashions have never before been presented to women of Fort Wayne. Your inspection is invited.

Each Day Brings New Dresses!

Jerseys are beginning to share honors with the serges of earlier Fall, and new models of the fabric are very clever. The fine tailor-made serges are very strong, and appeal to most women as being practical and good looking. Satins are much in demand, and can be secured here in stunning individual styles for those who want the newest, smartest thing.

Again we see the season's influence in colors leads to black and navy, but, of course, the others are shown too, and new shades of beaver and mole are especially good.

Many of the dresses show touches of fur or rich embroidery as the trimming motif. Prices range from $25.00 to $100.00, the models at $30.00, $40.00 and $50.00 being unusual values.

Many New Suits Have Just Been Received---

Wonderfully attractive garments that bear the stamp of leading American and French suit makers. Many direct copies of imported models are on display this week, and of these there are only one of a kind. The smartest suits are made of Silverton, Suede cloth, Glove Skin, Cashmere, Velour and Broadcloth, and the medium light shades predominate. Jackets are for the most part hip length and longer, and are either plain or fur-trimmed, and bear evidence of hand tailoring. Prices range from $22.95 to $225.00, directing particular attention to the showing at $40.00 and $50.00.

Wonderful Coats

Coats were never so attractive, and many show the military influence without losing the charm of femininity. Much fur is used in collar, cuffs and trimmings, although many handsome effects can be had without fur for immediate wear.

The shades are particularly lovely, the beauty of the tones being enhanced by the richness of the fabrics. And the furs most used with them are wolf, Hudson Seal and Fox.

All are exquisitely lined and show a new silhouette that is becoming to nearly every type. Priced from $19.95 to $200.00, with special values at $40.00, $50.00 and $60.00.

Separate Skirts Are Much in Demand

And really a necessary part of the season's wardrobe to save the wear given one's suit skirt. And as soon as you see these clever models you'll want one—they are so new, so different and so attractive to wear with the lovely blouses.

Novelty cloths, plaids and prominent stripes are used for the practical little skirts, with many handsome models developed of taffeta, satin and broadcloth.

There's a vast assortment of styles from $5.00 to $27.50, with special values at $7.50 to $15.00.

Judge Forces Colored Men to Talk Straight to the Point.

"Well judge, me and my wife was jes' playin' and she says I played a little too rough with her," explained Oscar Bannard, colored, Holman street. "Wait a minute," interposed Special Judge Attorney Frank Kleckamp, who presided over city court Monday morning. "Were you drunk?"

"I had been drinkin', judge, but—" started in Bannard.

"Fine $5 and costs," stated the judge, and the case was ended.

Smith Harris, colored, who rooms with the Bannard family, was charged with having a part in the same affair, in which Mrs. Bannard played a prominent part. Harris ambled to the witness chair.

"Now, judge, I was—" drawled Harris.

"Hold on. Were you drinking?" interrupted Judge Kleckamp.

"I had a couple drinks, but—" Harris proceeded.

"You are fined $1 and costs," uttered the judge and a second case was through.

Had No Excuse.

Art Kleckamp, 23, had no excuse, he said, for driving his Ford racer from Concordia college to Walton avenue at 35 miles an hour Saturday. His hearing was therefore of brief duration.

He was fined $25 and costs.

All Over Now.

Maud Loraine, who had interrupted business in her husband's saloon on Cathoun street, while intoxicated, Friday night, was in a quiet mood Monday morning.

"You will not try to wreck your husband's business again?" she was asked.

"No sir," came the answer.

"You may go," said the judge.

The case of James Damma, charged with stealing a watch from the chef of a Pennsylvania dining car is continued until Thursday. Damma proclaims his innocence and will employ an attorney.

David Melen, 35, is ill and was unable to answer a loitering charge. He will be tried on Thursday.

Walter Gerard, charged with loitering two weeks ago after he had attempted to dispose of a valueless note, was released.

Cases of public intoxication were: Duke Branstratter, fined $5 and costs; Samuel Carpenter, fined $5; Joe Brock, fined $1. John Nolan and Charles Rolland were released.

MEETING FOR WAR SERVICE

Rousing Demonstration at Court House Tuesday Night.

DESIRE ATTENDANCE SOLDIERS' PARENTS

Judge Eggeman to Preside and Byron Somers One of the Speakers.

A big demonstration of American enthusiasm for the war and America's cause, the defense of her ideals of government as set out by the national, state and county councils of defense, is expected at the Fort Wayne meeting at the court house Tuesday evening. The meeting is one of ninety-two, one for each county of the state, in accordance with the plans of the state defense council, which has selected the best speaking talent in the state for the purpose.

For the local meeting Byron Somers, of this city, has been chosen as one of the speakers. The other two men are Herman Wilkie, a prominent attorney of Elwood, Ind., and Fred I. King, of Wabash, both former members of the legislature and both well known speakers. Judge Eggeman will preside at the request of the chairman of the Allen County Patriotic Council, W. H. Scheiman.

The subject of the speakers will be war service and it is the especial desire and hope of the defense council that parents of young men who have been called into the army service will attend the meeting here as elsewhere in the state. The meetings are the consummation of the idea developed by the State Defense Council that the people are not all awake to the real war situation and it is expected by enlisting such talent as has been enrolled much help may be given to the cause in enlightening the people.

Parents Invited. Mr. Scheiman, president of the defense council, in a statement last night declared that it was the particular wish of the defense council and the Allen County Patriotic Council that mothers and fathers of boys who are in the service should be present Tuesday night at the court house. "The war is here," declared Mr. Scheiman. "There is no way out of it except to fight our way to victory to sustain the American system of government."

Four-Day Campaign. Red Cross work, food conservation and numerous other movements in connection with the war will be discussed by the speakers. A partial list of the teams of speakers and the places where they will speak in northern Indiana on Sept. 25, 26, 27 and 28 is printed below. The list of names includes several prominent local men:

Team No. 12 includes Byron Somers and Judge John W. Eggeman, of this city; Fred I. King, of Wabash, and Herman Wilkie, of Elwood. Its schedule follows: Fort Wayne, Sept. 25; Columbia City, Sept. 26; Huntington, Sept. 27; Bluffton, Sept. 28.

Team No. 13, consisting of L. Ray Lenich, Union City; Lee Bratton, Lebanon; George H. Gifford, Tipton, and Seba A. Barnes, Seymour, will visit Decatur, Sept. 25; Hartford City, Sept. 26; Portland, Sept. 27, and Winchester, Sept. 28.

BUSINESS IS BETTER IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Fines of Present Year Are $2,615 Ahead of 1916.

War time prosperity has reached the city court. Fines paid this year into the coffers of the Fort Wayne tribunal total $9,546. The amount is $2,615 above the sum of fines for the first nine months of 1916. The total of the first three quarters of the present year, to date, is within $9 of all the money taken in from fines during 1916.

A comparison of the amounts paid into the city court in fines during each month of 1916 and 1917 follows:

Month.	1916.	1917.
January	$ 452	$ 765
February	775	995
March	766	788
April	519	709
May	892	1,103
June	800	1,716
July	867	989
August	1,116	1,311
September	805	1,201
Total	$6,932	$9,546

The total collection for 1916 amounted to $9,535.

Metaphorically speaking the balloon went up during the month of June, when the gain of 1917 was $916 over the previous year. Much of the money was paid in by traffic violators. In one day the heedless pilots gave over $170.

Another line of gain was the activities of the city weights and measure department. Four cases of short weight were prosecuted during the month of June.

RETURN FROM CONVENTION.

George M. Haffner, J. B. Franke, Arthur A. Berry, Tom Kaough and Ernest R. Emrick have returned from Chicago, where they attended the annual convention of the National Association of Master Bakers. Mr. Haffner was selected as spokesman to address the Chicago Women's Association of Commerce, which body asked the bakers to attend a meeting of its organization.

By MILTON BRONNER.

Washington Sept. 24.—America has been in the war five months. In that time President Wilson has created a super cabinet which, under his close direction is really running the war. It has powers never dreamed of before in the United States. Of its ten members, six work for Uncle Sam for nothing.

Of the ordinary cabinet members also members of the super-cabinet there is first, Newton D. Baker, the quiet, efficient little lawyer who used to be the reform city solicitor and mayor of Cleveland, and who now has the job of bossing the biggest armies America has ever created. He largely devised the selective conscription bill and has been charged with carrying it out.

Joseph Daniels, the North Carolina newspaper editor, hammered time and again because he interfered with the graft of big business, in immediate charge of the American navy, is responsible not only for hunting down German U-boats, but also for conveying our transports and supply ships to France. In addition, his orders are law to our high seas fleet and to our navy shipyards. The close of the war will find our navy second to only England's.

VENDER CHARGED WITH SELLING BAD PEACHES

Complaint by Housewives Causes Arrest of George Bailey.

City Health Officer Josse signed an affidavit charging George Bailey, a vender, and one of the salesmen on the city market with selling rotten peaches Monday morning. Bailey sold a basket of peaches to a woman living on Barr street, it is alleged, and more than half of the fruit was rotten.

The vender was arrested as he was preparing to leave the market place. He is at liberty under $25. His hearing is set for Tuesday morning in city court. Health Officer Josse states that he has received complaints from women who purchased fruit of Bailey before Monday morning. When the health department was called by the housewife Monday Josse made a trip to the Barr street home. He found the peaches which had been delivered to be badly rotted, he states.

Bailey says that he sent another man to deliver the fruit and that his helper left the wrong basket of peaches at the Barr street residence. If the man is convicted his fine will be $10 and costs.

FOUR MILES OF PIPE LAID.

The city water works department has just completed the laying of four miles of water mains. The improvement has cost $42,040, or nearly twice what the installing of a like length of mains last year cost.

Piping for the mains has been hard to secure this year, according to Charles B. Yobst, superintendent of water line construction. A part of the work has been retarded because of delays in delivery. Nearly a mile more of six inch pipe is to be laid, before cold weather.

During 1916 the cost of laying water mains was fixed by the water works department at $1 a foot. This year $2 a foot is necessary. The increase in the cost of piping is the reason for the raise.

MANY MISTAKEN.

Many votes will be lost in the coming city election unless an erroneous impression, held by a number of men, is corrected. The citizens registered at the court house for the constitutional convention and believe that the act will make them eligible to cast a ballot in the city contest. A distressing prevalence of this belief is being found by party workers.

Registration for the city election must be made at the city hall or at some other point where signing is for the city election alone, election officers wish it understood.

RIVER PARK WOULD ENTHRONE BEAUTY

Supt. Jaenicke Thinks St. Joe Project is Acme of Civic Pride.

Building of the St. Joe river park, which is being proposed in connection with the St. Joe river dam movement, would be the crowning of nature's finest beauty, says Adolph Jaenicke, park superintendent, after a visit to the territory along which 250 acres of park land is expected to extend.

The elongated strip of timbered land, which is proposed to be converted into a park after the river dam is completed, lays between the Robison park car line and the St. Joe river, starting a half mile above the Centerville brewery. Plans for laying out the park have been made out by officers of the St. Joe River Dam and Park association.

If the park is established it will be laid off into beautiful drives and

SOME MORE EXPOSURE

How Germany Tricked and Abused America's Good Faith in Rumania.

STORED DISEASE
GERMS IN LEGATION
High Explosives Also Were
Concealed After America Took Charge.

Washington, Sept. 24.—How Germany "shamefully abused and exploited" the protection of the United States by secreting in the German legation at Bucharest, after the American government had taken charge of Germany's affairs at the Rumanian capital, quantities of powerful explosives for bomb plots and deadly microbes, with instructions for their use in destroying horses and cattle, is revealed by Secretary Lansing.

It was another of the series of Mr. Lansing's disclosures of German intrigue, made public without comment in the same manner as the von Luxburg telegrams which have brought Argentina on the verge of war with Germany, the von Eckhardt letter from Mexico City, and the von Bernstorff telegram asking the German foreign office for authorization to spend $50,000 to influence congress.

The latest story is told in a report to the state department by William Whiting Andrews, secretary of the legation at Bucharest, and a letter from Foreign Minister Porumbaru of Rumania.

Buried in Garden.

Parcels and boxes taken into the German consulate at Bucharest with display of great precaution aroused the suspicions of the Rumanian government. On Aug. 27, 1916, the evening prior to the German legation's declaration of war, some of the cases were taken to the German legation, located in a different building from the consulate.

Convinced that the boxes were not taken away from the legation by the German diplomatic mission upon its departure from Bucharest, the Rumanian authorities later ordered the police to find and examine their contents. The police communicated with American Minister Vopicka, then in charge of German interests, who reluctantly assigned Secretary Andrews to observe the search.

The boxes were found buried in the garden of the German legation.

German Agent Confesses.

Mr. Andrews' report says: "Upon my return from the examination which resulted in the discovery of the explosives and of the box of microbes, both of which the legation servants admitted having placed in the garden, the former constitutional agent of the German minister, Dr. Bernhardt, who had been left with the legation at the minister's request to assist in the care of German interests, admitted his knowledge of the explosives placed in the garden, told me that more were in the garden than had been found, that a still larger quantity had been buried in the house of the legation, and that still worse things than this box of microbes were contained in the legation, and insinuated that they would have been found even in the cabinets of dossiers which I had sealed.

"Dr. Bernhardt also stated that all these objects had been brought to the German legation after our legation had accepted the protection of German interests, which agreed with the statements of the servants. A similar confession was made to the minister by this man.

Contained High Explosives.

"The protection of the United States was in this manner shamefully abused and exploited. In this instance, at least, the German government cannot have recourse to its usual system of denial."

Fifty-one boxes were taken from the ground in the garden. Fifty of them contained each a cartridge filled with trinitrotoluene saturated with mononitrotoluene, among the most powerful explosives known, one-fifth of each of one being sufficient to tear up a railroad track. In the other box were bottles of liquid found to be cultivations of the microbes of anthrax and glanders. It bore a seal showing it came from the German consulate at Kronstadt, Hungary, and inside was found a typewritten note in German, saying:

"Enclosed 4 phials for horses and 4 for cattle. To be employed as formerly arranged. Each phial is sufficient for 200 head. To be introduced, if possible, directly into the animals' throats; if not, into their fodder. Please make a little report on the success obtained there; in case of good results the presence of Mr. Kostoff for one day here would be desirable."

Foreign Minister Porumbaru accompanied his letter with documents to prove the origin of the boxes and their contents.

"It has been possible to prove in an undisputable way," he said, "that before our declaration of war on Austria-Hungary, when observing strict neutrality and keeping up normal relations with the German empire, the personnel of the German legation, violating all rules of neutrality and all duties of diplomatic missions, introduced clandestinely considerable quantities of an extremely powerful explosive and cultivations of microbes destined to infect domestic animals and in consequence susceptible of provoking terrible epidemics also among the human population."

By Diplomatic Courier.

"There can hardly be any doubt about the way by which these substances were introduced into Rumanian territory; the very stringent police measures at all frontier stations taken by the royal Rumanian government since the outbreak of the war and continually made stricter since prove sufficiently that these explosives and microbes cannot have reached this country otherwise than by diplomatic courier."

"On the other hand there can be no doubt the final object of the importation into Rumania as well as about the use to which they were assigned. The explosives and the microbes were destined to be used in Rumania, very probably in time of peace. From all this it results that in time of peace members of the German legation, covered by their immunity, prepared in concert with the Bulgarian legation the perpetration on the territory of a neutral and friendly state of plots directed against the safety of this state and against the lives of its subjects."

Violated Hague Rules.

"The royal government makes it its duty to protest against these criminal practices, and especially against the use of the microbes, an illegal weapon and certainly worse than poison, the use of which was formally forbidden by the fourth convention of The Hague, as well as against this violation of the duties and of the loyalty which international law imposes upon diplomatic missions as an exchange for the privileges which are guaranteed to them."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

The great benefit derived from the use of this remedy in cases of coughs and colds has been gratefully acknowledged by many who have used it. Mrs. Benj. F. Blakney, Decatur, Ill., is one of them. She says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is by far the best medicine for colds and coughs we ever used in our family. I gave it to my children when small for croup and have taken it myself. If all mothers knew as much as I do about this medicine they would appreciate its real worth."—Advertisement.

years old and leaves a widow and child. The right-of-way agent of the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western railway is in the city negotiating for ground on which to place the depot. The railway will cross Calhoun street, a short distance south of the city limits, and it is the company's wish to place the depot near that thoroughfare if ground for its location can be secured.

Samuel Jackson, an Adams express agent running between Chicago and Pittsburg, was killed in the wreck of the Pittsburg passenger train, No. 8, at Shreve, Ohio. When the collision occurred Jackson was thrown down and a heavy wheel toppled over onto his legs and held him to the floor of the car. In vain he attempted to extricate himself, but the wheel was too much for his strength and his only hope for relief was from the rescuing party, whom he could hear at work outside. Then fire broke out in the car and spread rapidly. The cries of the man attracted those on the outside and they hastened to his assistance, but were held back by the flames with the result that Jackson was burned to death.

Bevo

How does this sound as a suggestion for a meal some day during this hot weather? Cold boiled ham, potato salad, rye bread, and ice-cold Bevo.

Bevo was made with meals and "between meals" in mind. It's an all-round soft drink. Enjoyable and refreshing all by itself and of just the flavor to go with any food—hot or cold—and to make it taste better. Pure—wholesome—nutritious.

Rids Camps of Vice, Where Army Failed

MRS. LEE SHIPPEY, Staff Special.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 24.—Army officers and state authorities failed to free middlewestern cantonments from immoral conditions, so Mrs. Lee Shippey, of Higginsville, Mo., went ahead and did it.

At her own expense, Mrs. Shippey visited the camps at Fort Sill, Fort Riley, Camp Funston and Camp Nichols, in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. The result is, at these camps the boys in training are safe from immoral influences.

For her work, the state governors have thanked Mrs. Shippey publicly.

Women Apt to Say They Are Tired of War Work

By BIDDY BYE.

"I'm so tired of canning, and of meatless days, and bread substitutes, and all the other old war economies," wails a nice just average American woman. And hundreds echo her plaint in their hearts.

Wouldn't it be well for these wearied ones to consider all the other tired people in the world today?

What about the tired men on a thousand miles of battle front?

Doubtless the women of Germany are very tired of their graves.

The tired women of Belgium were robbed of their homes long ago, and now even their right to their own labor has been taken from them. But they endure.

The tired wives of France have given their men to the trenches and now they garner the harvest and press out the wine in their places. But they do no complain.

The tired mothers of England wait while their sons go on—and on—with Haig, or with the North Sea fleet hold the Germans back from ravaging the world.

The Russian women are not too tired to take up the sword themselves.

Verily, it is hardly time for the American woman to talk about being "so tired" of war. As yet she has only sent a few thousand men overseas and given a few more thousands to the training camps. She has not yet had to weep over their spilled blood.

She has given up none of her comforts, not even her fine summer furs.

One end of war will be "to win woman from her silliness," says a prophet. Let us hope so. And let us hasten the day by cutting "so tired" out of our daily speech.

Small Containers Best for Dried Foods

Whatever the container used for dried foods—glass, tin or paper—let it be small. This is the admonition of the expert who writes Uncle Sam's cook books.

If a small amount of dried product is put in each receptacle, just enough for one or two meals, it will not be necessary to open a container the contents of which can not be consumed in a short time. The use of the small container also makes it more difficult for insects to spoil large quantities of the dried fruits or vegetables.

If a paper bag is used, the upper part should be twisted into a neck, bent over, and tied tightly with a string.

If a further precaution is necessary the bag can be painted with a brush dipped into melted paraffin. Another precaution may be taken by placing the small bags in a tin container with a tightly fitting cover. All bags should bear a label indicating what they contain.

If fruits or vegetables are packed in tight containers, immediately upon being dried thoroughly, they remain just as brittle as they were when taken from the drier.

If, however, they are not dried thoroughly, they will "sweat" and soon mold. To prevent this the material should be examined within twenty-four hours after packing, and if it appears moist it must be dried further. It will be found advisable to "condition" practically all dried vegetables and fruits.

This is best done in a small way by placing the material in boxes and pouring it from one into another once a day for three or four days, so as to mix it thoroughly and give to the whole mass an even degree of moisture.

If the material is found to be too moist, it should be returned to the drying trays for a short time.

SAVE KITCHEN WARE.

Because of the demand for steel and the shortage of materials which go into the manufacture of enameled, galvanized and tinned wares in use in American kitchens, some thirty manufacturers of these wares have issued jointly an appeal to the housewife to prolong the life of her kitchen utensils.

Three important don'ts are among those laid down for the housewife to follow. They are: Don't use coarse scouring powders. Don't handle the wares carelessly. Don't heat food in a pan without water.

When it is recalled that more than $100,000,000 is spent each year by American housewives for household utensils, it is apparent that the part which the women of the home can play in national economy is no small one.

Dermatologist Gives Complexion Secret

"The great secret of keeping the face young is to keep off the dead cuticle," says Dr. J. Mortimer Mitchell. "It is well known that the surface skin is constantly dying, falling off in imperceptible particles, except in some diseased conditions, when the same appears like dandruff. But the particles do not all drop off immediately; they die, being held for a while by the live skin.

To have the dermatological surgeon peel off the entire outer skin at one time is a painful and expensive operation. The same result is obtained by applying ordinary mercuric wax, as you would cold cream, allowing this to remain on overnight, then taking it off with warm water. One ounce usually suffices. The process is both painless and inexpensive. The wax, which is procurable at your drug store, hastens the natural shedding process. It gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead skin, revealing the new, healthy, youthful looking skin underneath. —Advertisement.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE AS CAR LEAVES ROAD

Thirteen-Year-Old Bluffton Lads Confused as They Pass Machine.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 24.—Speeding at the rate of thirty miles an hour two Bluffton lads became confused as they met another car and had a narrow escape from death. Ernest Hurt, 13, and Grant Johnson, 14, were returning from Fort Wayne, where they had spent Sunday afternoon and were on their way home when the accident occurred. Witnesses say the boys were on the wrong side of the road and as they met another machine turned to the other side too far and the car fell into a deep culvert. In some miraculous manner, known only by the American boy, both jumped from the machine just before it left the road. Had either been in the machine they would have been killed, for the machine was rendered beyond repair. The machine it is said was rented from a local garage.

stantial Russian victory is reported in the sector south of the Riga-Pskoff road. Taking the offensive here the Russian forces captured the German positions they attacked, retaining them after a hard struggle. The German losses were more than four hundred in killed and the Russians took a number of prisoners and ten machine guns.

The object of the Russian command in initiating this attack and other operations reported from this front may very likely be the rectification of the line east of Dvina at points where it is now weak. The need of strengthening it where possible is suggested by the assumption on the part of some Russian military critics that it is the aim of the Germans, after establishing

TO GET 5,000 IN TWO DAYS

Campaign for War Library Funds Will Start Wednesday.

TEAM CAPTAINS ENTHUSIASTIC

Promise Willing Support to Work Under Auspices of the Government.

Soldiers are clamoring for books, and Fort Wayne is ready to do her share toward supplying them. Plans were completed at a luncheon in the Commercial club rooms this noon whereby the city will raise $5,000 of the million dollar fund which is being subscribed throughout the United States this week to supply the soldiers and sailors serving under the Stars and Stripes with proper reading matter.

The campaign is to cover but two days, starting Wednesday morning. Captains of the teams are:

Team No. 1—Captain J. M. Kuhns.
Team No. 2—Captain J. A. Nipper.
Team No. 3—Captain S. A. Callahan.
Team No. 4—Captain Max Blitz.
Team No. 5—Captain Harry Muller.
Team No. 6—Captain Guy Colerick.
Team No. 7—Captain Clint Willson.
Team No. 8—Captain R. W. Fowler.
Team No. 9—Captain A. J. Polson.
Team No. 10—Captain E. J. Little.
Team No. 11—Captain Frank Edmunds.

Team No. 12—Captain W. N. Ballou.
Team No. 13—Captain Louis Moore.
Team No. 14—Captain A. L. Randall.
Team No. 15—Captain W. H. Shambaugh.
Team No. 16—Captain E. W. Cook.

The object of the latest movement to aid the Sammites is twofold in character—economic and sympathetic.

The aims of the campaign are explained by one of the prominent workers as follows:

"We must keep the men in touch with civil life while they are fighting the Hun, and there is just one way to do this—through giving them access to books and magazines which will inform them of world activities and particularly of the developments in their own chosen fields.

"There is also the other side of the great war problem—the necessity of keeping up the moral and mental tone. A good book is invaluable in this direction.

"A good book will relieve the drab of the trench and field life; will comfort the convalescent in the hospital and the homesick. A cheery poem or magazine article will restore good nature when nothing else will bring this about. There are a thousand and one things that reading will do for a man.

"We who stay at home can make the library do double service and we should not only do our share toward making the campaign a success because of our generosity, but because it is our patriotic duty to help this cause."

"On Saturday a friend of Judge Bingham was in Wilmington to ascertain exactly the condition of affairs. It now appears that at 3 o'clock on last Tuesday morning (Sept. 18) the disinterment took place, that an autopsy was performed in the presence of William J. Burns and several physicians; that vital parts of the body were turned over to some one and taken to New York. It is needless to say that all of this was surreptitious and was a secret closely guarded until the object was accomplished."

ISSUED THE PERMIT.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 24.—Dr. Charles E. Nesbitt, county health officer, acknowledges today that he has issued a permit for the exhumation of the body of Mrs. Robert Worth Bingham. He explained that the reason he had withheld information was that he had been told by those seeking the permit that they thought a crime had been committed.

COOL WEATHER GUESS GIVES CORN A BULGE

Opening Trend Upward is Followed by an All-round Advance.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Unofficial predictions of unfavorable weather led to a bulge in corn prices today. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/2¢ off to 1/2¢ advance at 1.17 1/2¢ to 1.18 December and 1.14 1/2¢ to 1.15 May, were followed by a decided advance all around.

PRICE RECESSIONS MARK WALL STREET

Sharp Declines at the Opening Partly Overcome, But Pressure Continues.

New York, Sept. 24.—Steels, coppers, oils and shippings carried the list to lower levels at the opening of today's trading. Recessions in these several groups ranged from large fractions to 1 1/2 points. Ralls also were inclined to yield, notably Grangers and Pacifics. Among the few strong issues were Sumatra Tobacco and Republic Iron. Liberty bonds were strong at 100.4.

Declines of the first half hour were partly overcome on buying of equipment and other speculative issues. But prices shaded again on resumption of preferential pressure. U. S. Steel lost a full point, and Bethlehem Steel 1 1/2. These losses were soon relieved, however. Liberty bonds varied from 99.98 to 100.04.

TELL THEM DAILY

The business man, the public stenographer, the architect, the moving man, the chiropractor and the carpenter who advertise in the classified columns of The Sentinel all know how important it is to keep their business announcements before Fort Wayne people every day in the week, month after month. They know that Fort Wayne people use these columns like they use the City Directory or the telephone book, "looking up" what they want to buy in the carefully indexed "For Sale" classification, and using the "Services Offered" column in the same way when they want to get in touch with reliable professional people. Whatever you do can profitably be told every day in The Sentinel.

RAILROAD NEWS.

NOT MUCH "DOING" IN LOCAL MARKETS

Receipts Are Light and There Are No Material Changes in Prices.

There wasn't much "doing" in local markets Monday. Receipts were exceptionally light and there was no material change in prices. Housewives are hoping for reduced prices on city market Tuesday morning, but the chances are not favorable. Prediction is made that eggs may be higher, although hens are laying and there doesn't seem much cause for it. Local millers continue to have considerable trouble in getting wheat. The price remains at $2.02 1/2. Fourteen loads of hay were weighed at the city scales on Monday, with the top price 50c lower than on Saturday. One load of corn brought $1.55. Four loads of oats brought $3.05 1/2 a bushel.

Following is the peroration of a speech delivered in an Intercollegiate oratorical contest in central Kentucky, 1896: "Standing upon the last decade of the grandest century ever measured by the flight of worlds, I dip into the future as far as human eye could see; saw the vision of the world and the wonder that would be; saw the American continent united in the grandest confederacy ever formed; saw it the great sun of the solar system of nations around which all revolved, giving life and liberty to each and prosperity and happiness to all; saw its ports filled with the argosies of commerce; its brow blooming with the wreath of science; the breath of heaven blessing its flag; yet, in the vigor and buoyancy of youth, scorning pessimism and decay, marching ever onward to the accomplishment of its grand and glorious destiny."

Some proprietors of Coney island amusement resorts have attempted the practice of admitting persons free to their places and charging them 10 cents at the exit gates, thus expecting to avoid payment of the war tax on admission tickets.
